

First Stop.. Washington!

Morgan and I flew out from Hawaii on July 28th to go on a summer-long tour across the United States! This has been an incredible opportunity for us to connect with supporters, ministry friends, and family for the first time as a married couple! We began our tour in Washington state to have our wedding reception where all our loved ones could attend and celebrate our marriage with us! It was really special that my dad got to walk me down the aisle and officially give me away to Morgan!

North Carolina

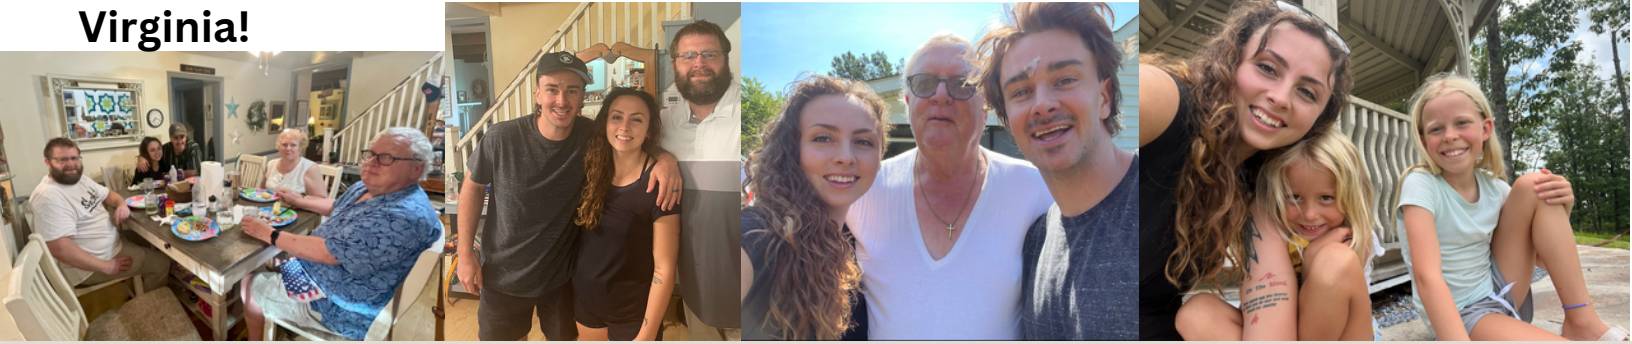

We loved having all of our friends and family in one place together and share with them our story and our plans for the future with the Lord!

In North Carolina we stayed and visited with some prior Ekballo students, and some students interested in going to the school! We also had lunch with the directors of FIRE International, and Morgan was officially accepted as a missionary through FI!

Virginia!

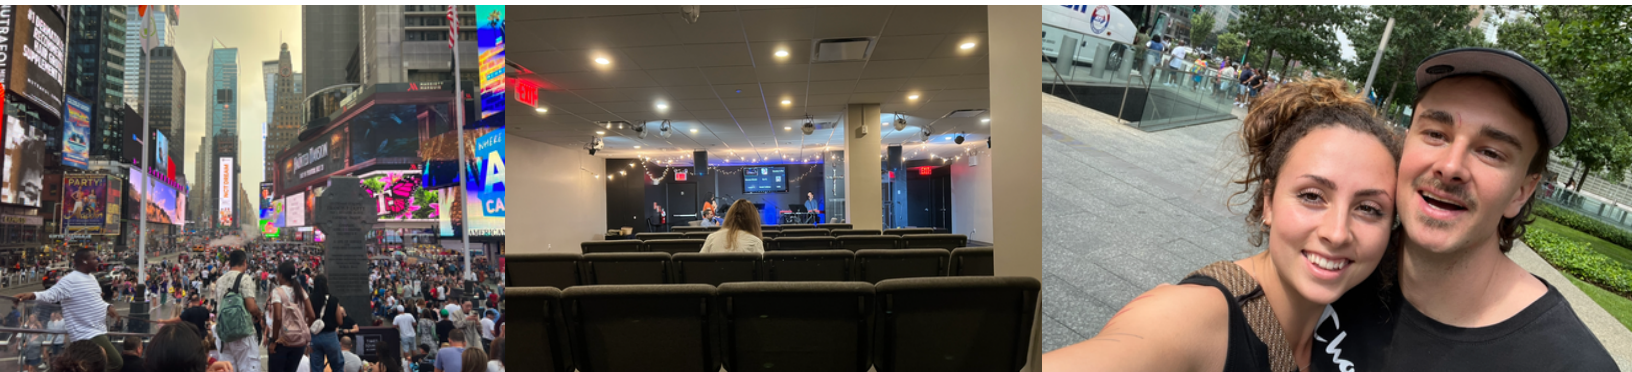

Virginia was very adventurous as we road-tripped through lightening storms to go see our family friends! We spent time with Morgan's extended relatives and they shared with us their stories and belief in the Lord. We also spent some time with the Bryants from last year at Ekballo. They gave us a tour through Liberty University where Morgan is doing online school.

Washington DC!

Morgan and I visited some of his good friends in Washington DC. His friend Sarah works in the Capital Building and gave us an amazing history lesson and tour of the whole place!

New York!

Lastly, we visited New York Justice House of Prayer, we went to the 9/11 Memorial Museum and walked some of the streets of New York together. Next up is a week in Kansas City to visit more friends and the International House of Prayer. Following this, we are going to spend the majority of August in Washington with our families before heading back to Hawaii. Then we are looking on to the next year of staffing and discipling at Ekballo!
