“I remain confident of this: I will see the goodness of the Lord in the land of the living.” (Psalms 27:13)

Aloha from Na‘alehu! Here’s a quick recap for this month:

- Prayer times with the home team for ministry in California
- Go team returns this weekend!
- Graduation in May
- Taking steps toward Kona

As of now, the Ekballo “go team” is in California helping pray, serve, and minister at a convention.

Those of us who have been on the home team are keeping them in prayer and staying updated during their travels.

The Israelis headed safely home so it will be different not having them around for classes!

The team returns in a little less than a week, so please pray for their safe travels and lots of testimonies!

Also, graduation is in one month! It’s been a wild year and I can hardly believe I’m about to graduate first year of Ekballo School!

Meanwhile, I’m continuing to take steps towards moving to Kona.

It’s crazy how quickly things are changing, and all the people I’ve been able to see and get to know in just the span of a year!

I look forward to seeing the doors God might open up as I make plans to move and start work after school!

Thanks so much for your prayers and support! It’s always such an encouragement to know that there are people like you out there supporting me along my journey!
