

REMNANT'S REST

Mark 1:35

Jesus got up, left the house and went off to a solitary place, where he prayed.

The pain management physician has switched me to a patch to help with the knee pain. It has reopened my ability to make progress on the house.

After months of being simply an elevated platform, the deck is now safely enclosed by a banister. When people come they need not worry about anyone falling off.

Stephanie and I now have matching tables for the kitchen and dining area. We have had miscellaneous tables of different heights for years. When large groups visited it was difficult to seat them all together for fellowship. We found old tables with good tops. We replaced the legs and stripped, sanded, stained and refinished the tops. It was good to have everyone at the same level during a recent gathering.

Speaking of gatherings, I am trying to get a group of ministers (7 couples of various ages) together this spring. Ministry gives you a different lens by which you see the world. Sometimes there are things that only other ministers can understand. My prayer is that one evening will lead to relationships that build the Kingdom and enable His servants to thrive.

Our mailman has been asking me questions about the Christian life and conflicts he sees within the church. Why do different churches not approve of other churches? What is a happy marriage? What versions of the Bible are good? He is a believer who isn't getting answers in his current fellowship.

I suspect God has leadership plans for him. I surmise this because those who seek answers about the world around them often end up leading others into truth.

Pray for Remnant's Rest

My knee pain is being dulled by medication. Now I must not overdo it and learn the limits.

Minister meeting.

Young man seeking truth.

We thank God for each one of you, your prayers and your support as we complete the guest area of our home and welcome ministers for a time of renewal and refreshing.
