

WHAT Our WORLD NEEDS NOW

Getting Past Good Enough

We all want to be good, but sometimes we're not. What do we do when we fall short?

Discussion Questions:

1. When you think of a really good person, who comes to mind? What is it about them that makes you say that?
2. Read Psalm 15 aloud, where David list some of the characteristics of someone who would be considered a good person, full of integrity.
 - What does it mean to speak truth "from the heart?"
 - Talk about a time when you kept an oath "even when it hurt"—or when you didn't and wish you had?
 - What are some other ways we can "lend money without interest?"
3. When we're beyond our ability to truly do good, our only choice is to surrender. We do that by:
 - Admitting our inability
 - Confessing our unwillingness
 - Inviting the Holy Spirit to helpWhich one of those steps is move difficult for you? Why?
4. Are you in a situation where someone has wronged you? When it comes to that situation, what would "goodness" look like for you? How do you need God's help?
