

3. To be made in God's image means that man closely resembles God in a way like no other part of creation. Along with this privilege, God gives specific directions to humanity in Gen 1:28-30. What are they?

4. At this point in the Story of Scripture, how would you describe man's relationship with ...
  - God (see Genesis 1:31)

  - The world (Genesis 1:28-29, 2:15)

  - Each other (Genesis 2:25)

General Questions

5. Author James Anderson defines a worldview as, "an all-encompassing perspective on everything that exists and matters to us." He adds, "your worldview represents your most fundamental beliefs and assumptions." Using these definitions, how would you describe the worldview of humanity (i.e., Adam and Eve) in Genesis 1?

6. Creation reminds us that the Story of Scripture begins long before humanity. Why is this important to understand before progressing in the story? To ask the question in another way, who is the central character in the Story of Scripture, and why is this significant?

7. People tend to like to think we are, “the centers of our own universes,” and even, “the masters of our own fates.” How does the Creation story correct this thinking? What Scripture passages support your answer?

8. What do you enjoy most about God’s creation? How does your delight in creation lead you to praise the Creator?

9. What do you enjoy most about being God’s unique creation? How does the knowledge of God as your Creator encourage your heart, even when things happen that are outside of your control?
