Hebrews 3:7–19 | “Exhort One Another”

1. What makes the rebellion of the people of Israel so surprising? And what does it teach us about our own hearts?

2. How does the command to “exhort one another” relate to guarding us from the hardening effects of sin, and helping us to persevere in our faith?

3. Why does the writer of Hebrews equate the disobedience of the people of Israel with unbelief?

4. How have you experienced encouragement and exhortation in the body of Christ (in either receiving or giving)?
