

this coming month...
Examen, Summer and More!

This last month has been a whirlwind of events and emotions for me and my family. The month of May always seems to hold more chaos anyway, but watching our son graduate from high school has been a sobering joy. Time is such a double edged sword...it's fleeting, it drags, there's too much of it, and there's not enough. So much depends on our perspective. I've been reflecting on how much weight and influence our perspectives hold over our situations and experiences.

One of the intentions of the discipleship that happens at Women of Peace is to grow in our awareness of the presence of God. This is about adjusting our perspective...attuning ourselves toward the reality that God is with us. It's amazing what can happen to my attitude when I can shift to this perspective and truth!

Sisters, as we enter a new season (both ordinary time in the church calendar and summer weeks away), I pray the Spirit of God would continue to be faithful to meet you where ever you find yourself...in the ordinary, difficult, beautiful reality of your life!
