

prepare for next week...

1 John 2:12-29

Women of Peace,

As we continue in our study of 1 John, I am reminded of the hope we find in Christ alone. In Christ, we are enough. Though the world can seem dark and unpredictable, Jesus has shown to be a constant beacon of light. He has won the battle from the enemy.

Recently, I was recommended a book from a dear friend titled "Loving the Little Years, Motherhood in the Trenches". The author, Rachel Jankovic, states "fat souls are better than clean floors". This idea has clung to me, even as we read our study. I imagine Christ also cares more for our souls and less about how tidy our lives are. How often do we try to present ourselves in such a way that is pleasing to others? As if to seem put together is easier than letting the vulnerability slip out. And yet God sees us in our deepest moments, and calls us out of isolation into fellowship with him and the church.

May we hold onto the truth of God's word that lives in our hearts, and be full of courage as we embrace it.

Peace,
Hanna Rogers

Thank
You

We are deeply grateful to everyone who has contributed to hosting the Clergy & Spouse Retreat and Synod this week! All the food, hospitality, cleaning, and childcare have not gone unnoticed. Thank you so much!

SHARING THE TABLE

Tuesday Evening

Allergies: gluten & nuts

Dinner Sign Up

Oct 14th - Breanna & Elisa

Oct 21st - Jenna & Dee

Oct 28th - Debbie & OPEN

Thursday Morning

Allergies: cranberries and nuts

Brunch Sign Up

Oct 16th - Emily S. & Michelle (Kids)

Oct 23rd - Tina & Leah (Kids)

Oct 30th - Hanna & Jodi (Kids)

Don't forget to write out your passage for our study next week!
1 John 2:12-29 is a longer passage,
so write small!

MARK YOUR CALENDARS

OCTOBER 31ST

Chili Cook-off
Fall Festival

NOVEMBER 8TH

Women's Day Retreat

FESTIVAL EUCHARIST & ORDINATIONS

Please join us, along with the Clergy and Delegates from across our Diocese, as we celebrate the closing of Synod 2025 with a Festival Eucharist. Sam Thiessen and Matt DuPont will be ordained and we'd love to have you there!
Please register for this event.