

Day 2: Worship God Alone

Reading: Matthew 4:8-10; Revelation 19:9-10

Devotional: Worship is not a casual matter—it belongs to God alone. The Colossian believers were tempted to worship angels and elevate human visions above Scripture. We face similar temptations today: celebrity pastors, spiritual experiences, or religious traditions can subtly steal worship from God. Even good things become idols when they receive the devotion reserved for the Creator. King Agrippa's tragic death reminds us that God is jealous for His glory. Examine your heart today. What captures your attention, affection, and allegiance? Where do you seek validation and security? True worship flows from recognizing God's supreme worth. Let your response to His goodness be unadulterated praise, reserving your deepest devotion for Him alone.
