

Day 5: Freedom and Community

Reading: Galatians 6:1-10; Hebrews 10:24-25

Devotional: Christ has set you free from sin's power, but freedom is not meant for isolation. God designed you to thrive in community with His people. We encourage one another, bear each other's burdens, confess sins, and pray together. Nobody charges the gates of hell alone—we are an army banded together. Perhaps you've tried to lone-soldier your faith journey, keeping struggles hidden while presenting a polished exterior. True biblical community requires vulnerability. Find one, two, or three people who will truly know you and walk alongside you. The freedom Christ offers isn't just about what you can or cannot do; it's freedom to live victoriously over sin through the power of His Spirit and the support of His family. Stay connected to Christ through His people.
