

Hebrews 9:16-28

“An Unavoidable, Inescapable Appointment”

Having taken a little break from the book of Hebrews through the holiday season as of late you may be a little hazy as to the context that we're coming upon as we enter into the 2nd ½ of this particular Ch. & To keep it brief the writer has been encouraging his readers w/the reality of the advantage of having Christ as our great heavenly high priest as opposed to anyone or anything, or any system that man has to offer on this earth (specifically the reference has been to the law & the Levitical priesthood, rituals & rites).

The priesthood of man upon the earth is temporary, the priesthood of Christ is eternal, the priesthood of man served in shadows, in copies of that in which Christ serves, which is the heavenly reality. The priesthood of man would vary in its quality, you may have a good high priest, then (when he died) you may have a corrupt high priest, the High Priesthood of Christ is consistent. He's compassionate, always for you, never against you, never too busy for you, always available to you, continually interceding for you. The priesthood of man, through rituals & regimen was only able to conform you outwardly to a system. The Priesthood of Christ is able to transform you inwardly by the power of His word & the person of His Spirit. Everything about Christ is greater, it's better; it's to our advantage on every level. W/man as the high priest, he was a sinner himself, in need of a sacrifice before even he could approach God. & The sacrifices he offered didn't even cleanse his own conscience, didn't even change him inwardly, much less the one whom he would perform a sacrifice on behalf of. But Jesus wasn't a sinner; He didn't need to deal w/any sin issue in His own life before He was able to deal w/it in the lives of others.

& He entered into the Most Holy place (not in an earthly tabernacle made w/man's hands) but into the heavenly reality. & Not w/the blood of goats or calves, but w/His own blood having become the perfect sacrifice for the sin of the world, the Lamb of God w/out spot & w/out blemish. & As we'll touch on today He didn't have to offer Himself often; the job of the priest was never done under the Levitical system. No matter how much sacrificing he did, he'd always have to do more, why? Because his sacrifice was insufficient to deal w/the sin dilemma, it made a temporary covering at best but could in no way cleanse a man completely, eternally. Christ's sacrifice was perfect, paid the sin debt in totality, cleanses you & me eternally. Therefore His sacrifice was once, for all.

& This is really the thrust of where we were at when our time came to a close the last time we were here in Heb Ch 9. Recognizing the fact that the blood of Christ does way more than cover our sin temporally, but rather it cleanses us of our sin eternally, now look at Vs 15 (read). Vs15

Jesus has become the Mediator of the new covenant. The covenant whereby God has said to mankind that if you will simply believe in the work of My Son J.C. on your behalf, Him doing for you what you could never do for yourself (that is remedy the sin dilemma for yourself much less everyone else in human history) I will grant you, accredit you His righteous standing in My sight. If you will believe in the atoning work of J.C. upon the cross, Him being delivered up for our transgression, raised for our justification, you'll never perish but have everlasting life. That's the covenant God offers to mankind, it has nothing to do w/man, everything to Him therefore unlike the old covenant, it cannot fail. & Jesus has become the Mediator of this covenant.

& As you know it's the job of the mediator to arbitrate in order to bring 2 parties together. In this case sinful man, & a Holy & Righteous God, Jesus bridges the gap between us that we might be reconciled to God. The bible tells us that God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself.

& Here in Vs 15 we read that Jesus is the Mediator of the new covenant (by means of death) for the redemption of the transgressions under the 1st covenant, (why) that those who are called may receive the promise of the eternal inheritance. & It's this idea of the death of Christ, & through His death we receive the promise of the eternal inheritance that leads the author here into this portion that we're considering today. Because after all you don't receive an inheritance apart from death, you don't inherit something from someone while they live; you inherit it after they die. & Sometimes things can get sticky regarding an inheritance; people fight over what exactly was meant & who gets what & all that. & Because the person isn't alive to mediate, it can get ugly. But such is not the case w/Christ, He died to inaugurate, or initiate the covenant, but then rising from the dead, He serves as the Mediator as well.

Vs16-17

So to sorta underscore his emphasis on the necessity of the death of Christ, he states the obvious, & that is that while a person is living their testament (as in last will & testament) is w/out power. & It's not until they've died that it's "activated" or set in place.

Now this word, "testament" being used here is the same word that's been translated "covenant" there in Vs 15. The reason for the change being the context, in Vs 15 the word is used in the "religious" sense, here in Vs 16 it's used in a "legal" sense. But a covenant & a testament are practically identical in that there's an agreement between 2 parties. However whereas w/a covenant there's room occasionally for negotiation, (you & I hash things out till w/both agree) w/a testament such is not the case. W/a testament the way things are going to be are already in place, & in writing, all you have to do to receive the benefits is to agree w/the conditions. If you don't receive the conditions you get nothing, if you accept them you get everything intended to go to you.

& So in reality this is in reference to the "last will & testament" (if you will) of Christ. We're talking about the inheritance you receive through the death of Christ, there are things that Jesus has "willed" to you & me (being found in Him) & they've been recorded for us, all we have to do is agree to the condition. & There's only one, we've already went over it, we don't do anything, we trust in what He's done. If we'll simply surrender our heart to Christ by faith we become an heir to the inheritance.

Well, what are some of the things that Christ has willed to us who believe? What are some of the things that have been written, & recorded in His will? Hey, 1st & foremost the bible teaches that we (as mankind) are all guilty of sin & we've fall short of the glory (that is the perfection) of God. But Christ has willed us forgiveness, we're enslaved, He's willed us freedom. We have worries, anxieties, sorrow, but Christ has willed us peace, the wages of sin is death, but Christ has willed us everlasting life. We're covered in the rags of sin, He wills us to be robed in His righteousness, we're but empty vessels. He's willed us to be filled to the overflow w/His Holy Spirit. Everything about this earth is perishing, it's fading away, He's willed us an incorruptible inheritance, one that does not fade away.

We read in 1 Peter 1:3-4, “Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who according to His abundant mercy has begotten us again to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible and undefiled and that does not fade away, reserved in heaven for you,”

Everything about this testament, the will of Jesus for you & me is enormous & it’s eternal, forgiveness, freedom, peace, purity, life, righteousness, incorruptible & undefiled. & In order for it to come into effect, Christ had to die because a testament is in force after men die, not before. That’s a simple truism recognized all over the world, in every culture.

Something else it underscores is that the life of Christ could never save anyone. Christ led a holy, sinless, completely righteous life. Yet for all the good deeds He did, all the people He healed, or raised from the dead, the incredible teachings that He gave, none of that could save anybody. Salvation was predicated upon His death, it wasn’t until He died that His will was put into place. You might say that He died to save us & He lives to keep us saved.

Vs18-22

There are just a couple of things that I want to draw to your attention out of this entire section. One being the fact that the word, “blood” is mentioned 6 times in the portion of scripture that we just read. In these 5 Vs the author brings up blood 6 times. That should be saying a couple of things to you & me, #1 the enormity of the importance of the blood regarding the covenant that God has made w/mankind, & #2 the fact that God is “deadly serious” about our sin & what it cost Him to provide the solution to our sin dilemma.

But w/this idea of a will being enforced through death the author points out here that not even the 1st covenant was put into place apart from death, apart from the shedding of blood. Virtually every aspect of the sacrificial system under the law was touched by blood in some way or another. The book itself, the people, the tabernacle, & all the vessels of ministry. The blood was applied to it all. & If the old covenant was set in motion & put into place through the shedding of the blood of a lesser sacrifice (that of calves & goats). Then we can expect the new testament to be set in motion & put into place through the shedding of the blood of a greater sacrifice. Remember it’s a better covenant, based upon better promises; therefore it’s imperative that it be represented by a better (in fact perfect) sacrifice. So the blood of the covenant is crucial, it’s non-negotiable.

& The 2nd point that this bringing up of the blood to the forefront of our attention does for us is to show us the deadly sincerity w/which God deals w/our sin. Our salvation wasn’t cheap, oh it’s free that much is for sure, but don’t be deceived it was anything but cheap. The bible says, “...you were not redeemed with corruptible things, like silver or gold, from your aimless conduct received by tradition from your fathers, but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot.” 1 Peter 1:18-19 & In demanding the purchase price of blood God is painting for us a very vivid picture by which He’s seeking to communicate to us that sin destroys human life. People think God is a giant “kill joy” in the sky. But the fact is He loves us & is seeking to save us from effectively destroying ourselves. It’s like when your child chases a ball out into the street w/out paying attention & nearly gets hit by a car & so you pick them up, place them over your knee & commence to instruct them as to why it is that they’re to never run out into the street w/out mom or dad there to make sure things are ok. It’s not because you don’t want them to have any fun it’s because you don’t want to see their life come to an end. & God is seeking to communicate to you & me that sin destroys life, & it cost the life of His own Son that we might receive the remission of sins.

Which brings me to the other thing that we want to draw out of this section here & that is this statement here at the end of Vs 22, "...and w/out the shedding of blood there is no remission." You do well to underline that, or memorize that, somehow draw attention to that because it's an emphatic statement to which there are no exceptions. In the book of Leviticus God had said, "For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it to you upon the altar to make atonement for your souls; for it is the blood that makes atonement for the soul." <sup>Lev 17:11</sup> Apart from the shedding of the blood of God's only begotten Son there would be no atonement available for our souls; for it is the blood that makes atonement for the soul. Or to understand that another way w/out shedding of blood there is no remission.

& I just want to hang out right there on that point for just a minute here because we live in a day & in an age whereby we're ready to believe just about anything but the significance of the need of the blood of J.C. to deal w/& cleanse us of our sin. People say things like, "Well, time heals all wounds" listen time doesn't heal the wound of sin. Only the blood of J.C. will do that. People think that if they can just do enough good that will somehow & in some way make reconciliation for the bad, but no good work can change the fact that I've sinned, good morals don't atone for bad morals in the past or somehow cause God to wink at sin. So sin doesn't go away w/enough time, good works or good morals don't provide a solution, I can't inflict pain upon myself & hope that somehow that's penalty enough. Sometimes people fall into the trap of thinking it all goes away when I die, & somehow death will do away w/the penalty of my sin. But none of those things are in anyway even close to a sufficient solution to our sin situation. It's only by the blood of Christ that we receive the remission (that is the forgiveness) of our sin debt. Because apart from the shedding of blood there is no forgiveness, & we can't have complete (or perfect) forgiveness apart from a perfect sacrifice. & That's what God provided in the person of J.C. The Lamb of God, who through the shedding of His blood, the laying down of His life, takes away the sins of the world. & Don't misunderstand this to think that all Jesus had to do was cut Himself & we would all be fine, no the phrase, "The shedding of blood" although literal is also synonymous w/saying, "The sacrifice of life." Remember, "life is in the blood," & the wages of sin is death, sin demands a payment of death.

Vs 23-24

The idea here is simply this; it was acceptable for the earthly tabernacle, the earthly things, things made w/imperfect man's hands to be "purified" w/imperfect sacrifices. After all they were only copies, shadows (at best) of the reality. But such sacrifices were completely insufficient to purify or cleanse the heavenly reality after which the earthly was modeled. The heavenly reality demands a perfect sacrifice. & That's the place that Christ has entered, & here's the kicker, He's there...for us! It's not hard to believe that Jesus has entered into the presence of God, but to contemplate & meditate on the fact that He's there for us, representing & interceding for us is mind blowing.

Now the question comes up at this point, why would the heavenly things need purified anyway? 2 plausible explanations, perhaps both a feasible reality. Because people think that sin could never enter heaven, well that's not true. Sin separates us from God, but God doesn't flee from sin, what I'm saying is that God doesn't have to move out if sin has been made present. Jesus was the friend of sinners, yet He never sinned Himself. & Most people don't stop to think about the fact that sin originated in heaven. Oh, man sinned on earth, but Satan fell like lightning from heaven, & it was after iniquity was found in his heart that he was cast down.

God didn't do a preemptive strike knowing that Satan was going to sin so He removed him in advance. Satan filled his heart w/pride, exalted himself in the presence of God, sin was found in him & God cast him out along with 1/3 of the angels who followed him. & To this day Satan has access to heaven & the bible declares that he accuses the brethren before God day & night.

So there has been sin in heaven, & therefore it seems logical to conclude that the blood of Christ has been applied to the heavenly things in order to bring that cleansing, that purifying power that's found therein to the heavenly things.

The other explanation is even simpler & that is that you & I have been made to sit together in heavenly places in Christ. & If the blood was necessary to cleanse the earthly things that man might commune w/God, how much more the heavenly things. The bible is clear that we enter the Holiest of all (spiritually speaking, that communion w/God) through the blood of Jesus. & So be it due to Satan's presence, do to our presence or perhaps a combination of both, the heavenly things as well have been purified by the blood of Christ.

Vs25-26

There it is right there, the purpose of His coming. Why did Christ come to this earth? To put away sin by the sacrifice of Himself, He came to do a work on your & my behalf. His purpose in being here wasn't self-centered it was other's centered, even so we're to be other's centered in His name. & Notice the scriptures qualify His appearance to be, "at the end of the ages." From the time Christ appeared till the time He comes again is scripturally considered, "the last days," & each day takes us closer to that day when we will see Him face to face.

& I think it's important to point out that though He appears in heaven for us He doesn't offer Himself often (or over & over again) for us. That work was once for all, it's finished. So His ministry in Heaven for us isn't one of continual atonement, it's one of intercession & defense on our behalf in light of the accuser of the brethren. & It's important to get a firm grasp on this principle, because the Roman Catholic practice of mass doesn't seek to remember what was done at the cross, it seeks to repeat what was done at the cross by believing in what's called "transubstantiation." & That's a fancy word that means when they partake of the bread & the cup regarding the communion service that they believe that, that bread & that cup actually become the actual body & the actual blood of J.C. being offered once again for the remission of their sins. So it's not a remembrance that they're taking part in, it's a repeat as far as they're concerned & there's all kinds of problems w/that scripturally not the least of which is a denial of the finished work of the cross. The scripture is clear, "...not that He should offer Himself often."

Now Vs 26 makes it clear that if Christ's work wasn't perfect than "Yes" He'd have to suffer over & over again since the foundation of the world. But by His sacrifice He once for all put away sin. Do you understand that all of the sin of all of mankind is wrapped up & put away in Christ, it's already done. & The only thing that keeps a person from entering into that reality of the absence of sin being accredited to their life is the fact that they won't come to Christ. Because in Christ the sin question is settled, but people won't come to Christ which leaves only one alternative. If they won't let their sin be dealt w/in Christ, then they have to deal w/it themselves, but here's the deal. It's only a perfect sacrifice that will make perfect atonement. This is why the reality of hell is for eternity. It has to be eternal for all who reject the sacrifice of Christ. Why? Why can't they pay for it for a million yrs & that be good enough? Listen, it's true that hell is the penalty for sin of the unrepentant.

They're there to pay the penalty of their sin having rejected Jesus' payment. But being imperfect people they can never make a perfect payment. & If the payment is imperfect, then as we're reading here it would have to be constant & continual, a person could be released from hell the moment they made a perfect payment. Which is another way of saying, "never" because we're all imperfect people, & it's impossible that an imperfect resource (the sin nature of man) could make a perfect (that is a sinless) payment. & So Jesus came & in these last days paid that penalty for us, & since His sacrifice was perfect, it didn't need to be constant, it was only once, & it was for all. Now all we've left to do is turn to Him & trust in Him, He's our scapegoat, He's the one who has put away our sin.

There is one unavoidable, inescapable appointment that all of mankind will make & they'll all be on time for it & that the appointment that we all have to stand before God & give an account. It is appointed for men to die once, but after this the judgment. Now if you're in Christ, your sin's been judged, you'll be judged according to what rewards you'll receive or not receive based upon the motive of your heart in doing or not doing what you've done or didn't do.

But outside of Christ, there's nothing that awaits a person outside of the white throne judgment of God & the lake of fire. That's simply the truth. & Though the writer here isn't seeking to combat the idea of reincarnation here the point remains, after death, isn't another chance on life, now is the time to receive Christ, today is the day of salvation. When Moses & Elijah appeared to the Lord there on the Mt of transfiguration, they were still Moses & Elijah, they didn't used to be Moses & Elijah but after reincarnating several times they were someone else. Reincarnation is simply another lie from the pit of hell seeking to deceive man in to growing numb & not sensing the urgency to come to Christ, because we only get one life. & It's here that we make the choice that will determine where we spend eternity, be it in God's presence, or eternally separated from Him in outer darkness, paying our own penalty perpetually, eternally for our sin.

But it's appointed for man to die once, even so Christ died once, & in so doing He bore the sins of many. The next time He comes it won't be to deal w/the sin issue, it'll be to rescue those who've trusted in Him & establish His reign in righteousness upon the earth. This Vs isn't a reference to the rapture, it's a reference to His 2nd coming. & I pray that you might be found in that company that eagerly awaits His coming.

During the days of the O.C. that one day a yr when the High Priest would enter the holy of holies, the crowd would gather in eager anticipation of his emerging from that place. Because when he came out, it meant God had received the sacrifice, the people's sins were forgiven. & Even so we eagerly await for Christ's appearing again, apart from sin for salvation, the culmination of all things, He'll judge the earth, establish His reign in righteousness, & so shall we ever be w/the Lord.

Prayer Points:

Lord everyone of us have an appointment w/You, a day when we'll stand before You, & I pray that we might be found ready. Eagerly anticipating the day, not finding ourselves ashamed on that day, or worse yet unprepared for that day having never come to trust in You. Lord I pray that the heart of each person here might be turned toward You today, that we might be found in that place of trusting in You, Lord Your word's not confusing, it's very clear. You & You alone are the sufficient sacrifice for our sin, & so may we place our confidence in You alone, & not in our own works or the works of man's hands. You laid Your life down for us, now teach us to lay our lives down for You.

& If you've not trusted Christ for the forgiveness of your sin, why not do that today. Why not be forgiven right now, it's ready, it's waiting, but you can't be forgiven by trying to change your ways, or by seeking to do a good deed, forgiveness is offered to you exclusively in Christ, turn to Him, trust in Him, surrender all that you are to all that He is, repent from your sin & come to Christ.
