

Semper Reformanda: The Church That Is Always Reforming
Money and the Church

Hebrews 13:1–19

The Lord's Day Morning

October 20, 2019

While the church on earth will never be completely free from the love of money, the principle of semper reformanda means that the church is constantly striving to be “always reforming,” in all areas, including financial stewardship and integrity. Such a reforming church will be marked by three practices:

1. _____ will work diligently to teach sound doctrine without _____.
2. _____ will work honorably to earn a living and live _____.
3. _____ give freely to meet the needs of others because God is _____.
