

LITERATUS LINGUA

MRS. WEIDER

Grammar/ Literature

This week scholars will continue to work on clauses. We will discuss independent and dependent clauses as well as subordinate conjunctions.

After several weeks of reading, discussing, and considering Julius Caesar, we will be starting our next novel, The Hobbit by J.R.R. Tolkien. Tolkien is a masterful story-teller. He is an incredible crafter of words as well. The riddles found in this novel as almost as wonderful as the story itself.

Not So Serious Shakespeare

Julius Caesar

This is the week we've been working towards! Our Not So Serious Shakespeare production will be on Thursday, January 15. Please see the email which I sent out to the families last week for more details.

Please know that parents are more than welcome to join us for the production. This will be such a fun event for the students. Many of them have asked if their parents were also able to attend. The answer is YES, definitely! Come and see our silly take on a very serious topic: Julius Caesar!
