Seventh Literature

"The Masque of Red Death" by Edgar Allan Poe

Edgar Allan Poe was not a fan of allegories, but "The Masque of Red Death" was both entertaining and interesting as we tried to figure out all the symbolism in the story. We discussed as many symbols as we could find from the large ebony clock to the colors of the rooms. In the end, Red Death passed through all their lives and held dominion over all.

Eighth Literature

The Screwtape Letters by C.S. Lewis

In the 19th Letter from Screwtape, he talks to Wormwood about how confusing love is to the demons. God cannot possibly love us disgusting human vermin because all beings are in constant competition and conflict. How can God possibly be looking out for our best interest? He is God, and we are disgusting! As a matter of fact, according to Screwtape, this is exactly the question Satan asked God when he "removed himself" from heaven.

Oratio Eloquentium

The Our Savior Logic School scholars have started the Oratio classroom rounds. The first round will be presented to their respective classes and judged by their classmates and teacher. In addition to the presentation for competition, the selection will be a required English grade. The scholar's peer's scores will count for 40% of the presenter's score. The teacher's score will make up the remaining 60%. Scholars will be given two practice opportunities in class; one with a note card, and one memorized. The final classroom presentation will be the graded presentation. The scholars are responsible for remembering their presentation dates. Those dates are posted in the classroom.

The presenters will be judged on memorization, physical demeanor, delivery, and the difficulty of the selection chosen.

Important Dates:

First Round of classroom competition completed: March 20th.

Second Round of Twelve: April 1st.

Championship Round Assembly: April 15th.
