OUTDOOR LEARNING

We set our butterflies free! It has been quite the excitement to watch the entire process, from caterpillar to chrysalis to butterfly. In addition to the butterflies, we spent two separate days coloring rocks with paint pens – one got to come home with your child, and one has been placed in the foundation of our new building.

SCIENCE

By special request, we did an experiment that we did at the beginning of the school year – the walking rainbow, demonstrating capillary action.
