
LITERATUS LINGUA

MRS. WEIDER

Grammar/ Literature

This week scholars will continue to work with dependent and independent clauses to create sentences. Specifically we will build compound and complex sentences.

As mentioned before, we are now digging into Tolkien's novel, The Hobbit. I want to bring your attention to a new procedure: reading guides will be sent home to be filled out as homework. In the past most of the work of the reading guide was completed in class and it was discussed together. This new step will require the students to take their novel home and complete the reading guide on their own.

Well done, Scholars!

Our Not-So-Serious Julius Caesar was so fun! I enjoyed watching everyone in their costumes and seeing everyone become their characters! Thank you to the parents and other significant adults who came out to support us.

Now that we've wrapped up our time with William Shakespeare, I am excited to move on to J.R.R. Tolkien- another English writer. Tolkien, like Shakespeare- was a master with words. He was fluent in 35 languages. He actually created a few languages for his secondary world: Middle Earth. Even though we won't be doing a play with this story, we will be learning songs and poetry as we read The Hobbit.
