

6/25/2023

A doctor at a major children's hospital explains how puberty blockers shut down a child's hypothalamus, which controls emotions, sexuality, and the aesthetic sense.

<https://twitter.com/realchrisrufo/status/1671726201323307008?t=E0BD22mq6Kd7Ax57xoK5jg&s=19>

Set the scene - What's it like in a major children's hospital in the United States regarding transgender interventions for children?

I think the best way to answer that question is to talk about the cultural shift that happened in 2020, because transgender ideology and Covid are inextricably linked. Normally, doctors operate by the authority of the professional societies that govern our specific practice. That worked because the individuals in those institutions were reliable, intelligent, and thoughtful. But with Covid in 2020, we started getting medical decrees without peer review or evidence—you saw this with masks, social distancing, and emergency-use authorizations. These decrees were expressed as something that everyone had to do, without justification based on sound science. The other thing was censorship. If you were to ask questions or express doubt about these medical decrees, you would be ostracized within your department, and you stood a good chance of being publicly humiliated, severely reprimanded, or fired.

That's when transgender ideology really took off. Within these academic institutions, so-called experts in the field of transgender medicine would simply declare that puberty blockers and other interventions were the gold standard of care. The evidence to support this is completely fraudulent, but no dissent was permitted. Everyone within the medical community knew that if he questioned transgender ideology, he would suffer the same type of repercussions that had happened during Covid. The best way to describe the environment would be as an authoritarian, censorious culture that discourages any meaningful debate and encourages the demonization of anyone who asks questions.

What do you predict for the future of transgender medicine? Will it continue to gain ground, or will it all fall apart?

Physician: I don't know. I pray that there is a change. One of the things I've been thinking about is what puberty blockers do to children. This medication is called a "gonadotropin releasing hormone agonist" and it comes in the form of monthly injections or an implant. And because it simulates the activity of this hormone, it shuts down the activity of the hypothalamus. The hypothalamus is this almond-sized structure in your brain, it's one of the most primal structures we have, and it controls all the other hormonal structures in your body—your sexual development, your emotions, your fight-or-flight response, everything. But it shouldn't be described in such cold physiological terms because your hypothalamus is not just a hormone factory. It's this system that allows you to stand in awe of the beauty of a sunset, or to hear the sounds of orchestral music and to stop whatever you're doing and want to listen. And I always think that if someone were to ask me, Where is it that you would look for the divine spark in each individual? I would say that it would be somewhere "beneath the inner chamber," which is the Greek derivation of the term hypothalamus. To shut down that system is to shut down what makes us human.

Can you see how the enemy is raising an army, physically?

"BRICS+" countries will announce the creation of a new currency at its annual leaders' summit conference on August 22–24.

<https://www.zerohedge.com/markets/biggest-monetary-shock-52-years>

Review – God’s Word serves as a sanity check.

Would you call the mental health of the nation sound? If not, why? What are some examples?

- Authority tells you that you can’t say LGBTQ is sin
- Must pass the bill so we can see what’s in it
- 2-tier justice system

<sup>6</sup> Therefore pride is their necklace; The garment of violence covers them. <sup>7</sup> Their eye bulges from fatness; The imaginations of their heart run riot. <sup>8</sup> They mock and wickedly speak of oppression; They speak from on high. <sup>9</sup> They have set their mouth against the heavens, And their tongue parades through the earth.

- Just showed you WEF / Harari discussing the re-writing of the bible by the Beast
- Throughout history, religions dreamt about having a book written by a superhuman intelligence, by a non-human entity, and with AI they might actually be correct! (1 Pet 1:20)

<sup>10</sup> Therefore his people return to this place, And waters of abundance are drunk by them. <sup>11</sup> They say, "How does God know? And is there knowledge with the Most High?" <sup>12</sup> Behold, these are the wicked; And always at ease, they have increased in wealth. <sup>13</sup> Surely in vain I have kept my heart pure And washed my hands in innocence; <sup>14</sup> For I have been stricken all day long And chastened every morning.

Anyone ever feel like this? Like you’re not gaining ground when you’re giving giving giving of time, resources, etc?

Stricken & chastened?

<sup>15</sup> If I had said, "I will speak thus," Behold, I would have betrayed the generation of Your children

we’ve thought it, but not said it? Just like this guy, he’d have felt like he betrayed his brothers/sisters

Rick Wiles – If I only had that retirement money back...