1. Pastor Carl used an excellent illustration involving a steamboat to describe God's sovereignty in the midst of our free will. What are some things that we blame God for that are actually results of free will from men and women?

2. Pastor shared a memory from years ago about being asked to teach a Sunday school class and how it unknowingly trained him for the calling he is walking in today. How can we remain faithful in the smaller roles and tasks God places before us, even if we don't see the bigger purpose?

3. Pastor Carl ended the sermon referencing how Jesus was born (Read Luke 1:26-38). How can we follow Mary's example of choosing to obey God when He calls us to something that seems impossible? After reading the passage of scripture in Luke, how can we cultivate that same trust and surrender in our own lives?
