THOUGHTS ON THE JOURNEY

Eve Ladner

Colossians 3:2

Set your minds on things above and not on things of this earth is my favorite verse because the Lord gave me this verse 39 years ago before I made that all meaning journey into marriage. Our journey has not been an easy one. My family did not want me to marry Don. My parents chose not to come to our wedding. What should have been a joyous time between mother and daughter was somewhat tearful. I had to lean into Jesus remembering the scripture verse HE gave me.

Don and I have had many tearful trials and have had to lean into HIM first. HE has always navigated my path through difficult situations. I can look back and see how HE has resolved each situation without my help. If HE did it for me in the past, of course HE will do it again. HIS provisions are given just when we need them. They are never early, and they are never late.

Through it all I have remained grounded in our covenant marriage because I have been able to remember to keep looking to HIM and not to man. If a young couple came to me asking for advice, I would have to direct them to this verse. Man can make you temporarily happy, but when push comes to shove that happiness will crumble. But when you set your mind and heart on Jesus - now that is everlasting.
