THOUGHTS ON THE JOURNEY

Today we will continue looking at the lives of people that we find in scripture who were, "Beautifully Broken." So far, we have looked at Moses, who made a decision in a moment of heated anger that would forever change the course and direction of his life. However, God was not done with him. After being in exile for forty years, God called him to lead the people of Israel out of slavery.

Next, we considered the life of Joseph. Through no fault of his own, he is sold into slavery, thrown into prison, and let down by those who should have helped him. In spite of it all, Joseph chose to maintain his integrity and to continue to honor God. In the end, God exalted him to a place of leadership that allowed him to save a generation of people.

“ The only thing that stands between you and that story is your willingness to humbly submit to God. ”

Last week, we looked at the lives of Ruth and Naomi. These two ladies experienced devastating loses that left them both as widows. Ruth chose to honor God and Naomi by making a commitment to Naomi that could have come at great personal cost. However, God once again honored their faithfulness and redeemed their story. We see the name of Ruth appear in the lineage of Jesus Christ.

Today we will move to the New Testament. We will spend some time looking at the life of Peter, or as I like to call him – Impetuous Peter. Peter often let his mouth get ahead of him, making vows that he could not keep. We will see Peter sink lower than he thought he could sink after he denies his Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. However, as we continue to see again and again, God is into big comebacks. Peter will recover and take the lead as the early church spreads across the known world.

I hope that you will consider your own story. Maybe you have experienced a setback of sorts. I hope that you realize that God's comeback stories are available to you too. The only thing that stands between you and that story is your willingness to humbly submit to God. If you will submit, get ready to see God do some exciting things.

Honored to be your pastor,

DARRELL
