Another Yes

Joseph's story is a story of yeses: yes to a dream, yes to a hard season, yes to faithfulness in a house that was not his own. Over five days, walk through his journey and see how God asks for another yes.

EACH DAY

- Read the passage slowly, and more than once
- Reflect on the devotional and the question that follows

The Dream Before the Pit

TODAY'S READING

Genesis 37:18-24

DEVOTIONAL

Joseph carried a God-given dream long before he understood its full weight. His willingness to move in obedience, even in ignorance, positioned him for a process he never anticipated. Many of us have received a word, a vision, or a nudge from God that we have been sitting on, waiting for perfect conditions before we move. But God does not require your perfection. He requires your willingness. The pit was not the end of Joseph's story, and your current discomfort is not the end of yours.

REFLECT

What dream has God placed inside of you that fear has kept buried?

DAY 2 OF 5

The Lord Was With Him

DAY

2

TODAY'S READING

Genesis 39:1-5

DEVOTIONAL

One of the most remarkable truths in Joseph's story is that God's presence did not wait until Joseph arrived at a comfortable destination. The Lord was with Joseph in a foreign house, serving a foreign master, in a land he did not choose. The blessing on Joseph's life was so tangible that even those around him could see it. Your current environment, the one you may be desperate to leave, may be flourishing because of your presence in it. Before you rush out of where God has planted you, ask yourself what would be lost if you were no longer there.

REFLECT

What would be lost if you were no longer where God has planted you?

DAY 3 OF 5

DAY

3

Faithful in Another's House

TODAY'S READING

Luke 16:10-12

DEVOTIONAL

Luke 16:12 poses a question that cuts straight to the heart of stewardship and surrender: if you have not been faithful with what belongs to someone else, why would God entrust you with what is your own? Joseph did not treat Potiphar's house carelessly simply because it was not his. He gave his full excellence to a season that was not his final destination. God uses borrowed seasons to build permanent character. The way you treat what is not yet yours reveals whether you are ready for what God has promised you. Faithfulness in the in-between is never wasted.

REFLECT

How are you stewarding what is not yet yours?

DAY 4 OF 5

DAY

4

Purchased and Purposed

TODAY'S READING

Revelation 5:9-10 · 2 Peter 1:3-4

DEVOTIONAL

You were not saved simply to be comfortable. Revelation 5:9-10 reminds us that people were ransomed from every tribe, language, and nation, and made into a kingdom of priests meant to reign on the earth. Second Peter 1:3-4 assures us that everything required for a life of godliness has already been granted to us through Christ. God has removed every legitimate excuse. The divine nature is available to you. The grace is already present. The question is not whether God has equipped you. The question is whether you will reach for what he has already placed within your reach.

REFLECT

What has God already placed within your reach?

DAY 5 OF 5

The Yes That Changes Everything

DAY

5

TODAY'S READING

Jeremiah 1:4-5 · Romans 1:17

DEVOTIONAL

Before you were formed, God knew you. Before you drew your first breath, your calling was already settled in the heart of God. Romans 1:17 describes a life of faith as a journey from one measure of faith to the next, a continuous forward movement. Your first yes to God was never meant to be your last. He is not finished calling your name. He is not done tapping on the door of your heart. The yes you give today may be the one that preserves a lineage, transforms a community, or opens a door that changes generations. He is worthy of your next yes.

REFLECT

What is your next yes?
