1. Who was an adult who made you feel valued when you were growing up—a parent, grandparent, teacher, coach, or someone else? What did they do that stayed with you?
2. Read Psalm 78:4–7. Whether or not we have children, what opportunities do we have to help the next generation know Jesus and discover His mission? What might that look like in your current season of life?
3. Read Ephesians 6:4 and James 1:19. How can we offer guidance and correction while helping younger people feel loved, respected, and safe enough to be honest? What might need to change in the example we set?
4. Read 1 Corinthians 3:6–7. We can create opportunities for someone to follow Jesus, but we cannot make that choice for them. Where do you struggle to release control of someone's response? Name one person you can invest in and one specific step you will take this week.
