

Weird

Week two - "Weird Timing"

Ecclesiastes 3:1-11

Bottom line: Your time will reflect what matters most.

1. Would you describe yourself as typically early, on-time, or late when it comes to timing?
2. Where do you "lose" the most time in your everyday life?
3. What would you love to spend time on if you could?
4. Read Ecclesiastes 3:1-11
  - a. What did the writer mean by saying, "there is a time for everything"?
  - b. How would you describe the tension between the idea that there is time for everything, and also no time for anything?
  - c. How have you seen God make something beautiful "in its time"?
5. Think about the categories of non-negotiable time, given time, and kept time. How are you currently spending each of those categories of time?
6. Which category of time seems to be dictating most of your life - your non-negotiable time, given time, or kept time?
7. What would look differently on your calendar right now if your "kept time" was given more priority than your "given time"?
8. How does our understanding of eternity change how we spend our time now?

---

We believe circles are better than rows and that the Bible is best understood in community conversations. If you would like to join or form a small group, please go to our website and click the button that best suits your next step. www.ashleyridgechurch.org/groups