

The Last Kingdom
Week three - *"Kingdom Accounting"
Matthew 25:14-30
Bottom line: Everyone is accountable.

1. In the parable, the servants receive different amounts, but each is entrusted with something. What does this say about how God sees our gifts, resources, and opportunities?
2. The first two servants put what they were given to work, while the third hid it out of fear. What fears or assumptions can keep us from using what God has entrusted to us?
3. The kingdom of God is "epic, collective, and personal." How do you see each of those dimensions in your own life?
4. What might it look like to use our influence or abilities in a way that helps others flourish—like the cello teacher who increases the beauty and skill in the room?
5. Jesus' way of power included washing feet and welcoming outsiders. How does his example challenge the way our culture thinks about winning, influence, and success?
6. Accountability is a "faith-filled opportunity," not a fear-filled endeavor. What helps you approach responsibility with faith and joy?
7. What has God entrusted to you that may be meant to benefit others as well as you? How could you put it to work this week?
