Week two - "Commanding Scripture, Compelling Spirit"
John 16:7-15 and 2 Timothy 3
Bottom line: If we want to hear God, we need to learn His language and grow familiar with His voice.

1. Where do you most often go for guidance when facing an important decision? What makes that source feel trustworthy?
2. What does it mean to you that Scripture is the "baseline test" for discerning God's guidance?
3. Can you think of a time when knowing Scripture helped you recognize—or reject—a particular feeling, voice, or course of action?
4. Why might it be risky to separate the work of the Holy Spirit from Scripture? What can happen when we do?
5. The message compares recognizing God's voice to becoming familiar with the voice of someone you love. What practices could help you grow more familiar with God's voice?
6. Have you ever sensed a nudge to pray, reach out, serve, or act? How did you discern whether it was from the Holy Spirit?
7. What is one practical step you can take this week to learn God's language through Scripture and become more attentive to His Spirit?
