

This is the reason for the dream.

History of what brought me to this point:

I wanted to be remade into a vessel that God could use. I was a good Christian, but I wanted more of Him. I prayed that God would change me and to help me know Him more. (Be careful what you pray for, but I have no regrets.)

Then, I caught Covid. I was a very sick woman and if I had died, it would have been worth it to me because I was so desperate to be changed, made new, and to know Him so much more. I prayed that the Lord would give me a heart like David,

I got my wish that Sunday night. I went to bed with this thought: "I will be changed and will not remain the same person I've been." I was very determined.

This journey isn't for everyone, but it was for me. I was already very sick, so I thought, "God, tonight is the night I will be remade or my husband will find me dead in the morning. Someone did die that night. It was my old self.

God obliged me and gave me my desire. I will continue to be a work in progress.

I was upstairs because I had quarantined myself from my husband to try to keep him from getting sick. During this whole ordeal, it was just me and the Lord. He is and has always been my dearest friend and it will remain that way until the end and beyond.

The Dream

I laid down with this thought in mind, “I will see His glory and be changed tonight.” When I first laid down, I felt so alive. It felt like electricity was running through every fiber of my being. Then I saw smoke begin to swirl above my body. When I saw the smoke, I immediately closed my eyes because I wasn’t sure what was about to happen. I apparently fell asleep.

As the dream began, I saw people at a celebration. It was a celebration of my life. I was at the end of my life and was presented a book. The book was a story of my life that someone (maybe an angel) had written about me from beginning to end. It was apparent that this same process happens in all of our lives. My life was just being used an example.

On the front of the book there were two pictures of two babies. One of them was me, but I wasn’t for sure who the other baby was. They weren’t walking yet. They seemed to be about crawling age. Apparently, we had grown up together from babies to old age. At the celebration, we were both old women and had spent our lives together. We hugged each other and we were very excited. It seemed that we would be leaving together, too, and that I would be carrying my finished/approved copy of my book with me as I went before the throne.

I don’t know for sure who the other baby/woman was unless it was my spirit. We all have a spiritual body along with our fleshly body. I think our spirits look like us. I never saw her face, but her hair looked like mine from behind except that it was lighter in color.

The book was presented to me to proof read and stamp my approval on it. This book was to be presented to the Lord in the throne room. We wanted it to look as good as possible and to be proud of our story, so I looked the book over and approved the cover and the pictures.

There were lights, cameras, action, and reporters everywhere. They were making a big deal about my life and departure. After I read my book, it looked a lot better than I expected. I was made aware that our prayers really are making a big difference all over the world and this will be apart of your own book.

I have always been a person that preferred to live my life quietly and do my own work. I've always wanted God to have all the glory for anything I have accomplished in my life. I told all the people at the celebration, " Give all the praise to Him!"

I realized that the lights, cameras and action were actually coming from the cloud of witnesses that the Bible speaks about. The lights flashing that I thought were cameras was actually lightning coming from the throne. Everyone from the other side knows when you are getting ready to come Home. The angels, our families, and the Lord show their excitement and I was seeing it all! This will happen to everyone when it comes your time to leave this world and you have made yourself ready.

So now let's look inside the book. I wasn't privileged to see everything because that is reserved for the Judgment Seat of Christ. Suddenly, I was standing on the circle of the Earth with the Lord. Nothing was actually spoken out loud during the entire dream. He just spoke to my mind. He showed me pin lights all over the world. This is what He sees. These lights are lives. I could see Jesus receiving the prayers and dispersing the angels . The angels were taking the prayers to the lights on the Earth and lives were being changed as I watched. There were five things I felt like the Lord wanted me to let people know.

#1. Our prayers change lives all over the world. When we pray, even the smallest prayers are heard. As we pray, the prayers go to God and He disperses angels to go help people. So know that you are changing lives through your prayers. This will be in your book. Pray with confidence knowing that you are helping change lives all over the world, not just your families' lives. When we intercede with supplications and pray with urgency, we are praying the "mind of God" because we don't know what needs to be praying about, but God knows the needs. James 5:16 says "the effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much." So let's get to praying and bring all the praise and honor to God who deserves our best .We don't realize as we pray the impact we are having. We will not know the lives we have helped until we get to Heaven.

#2. We need to be careful with our words, both positive and negative. They are powerful. They're never unheard and can't be taken back. They will not return void.

#3. Everything we do, big or small, for Him and the Kingdom is a very big deal! It's just like a Daddy and his baby. If the baby starts to walk, the Daddy gets so excited! It's the same way with the Lord and all of Heaven. They get very excited to see what we will do next. If we fail, they say, "It's okay! Try again!"

#4. The Lord said it doesn't matter to Him how much work you do or do not do. He loves everyone the same and all work is special in His eyes. Just use what the Lord has given you to help the Kingdom grow.

#5. The Lord doesn't want us to judge, backbite, or pick apart our brothers and sisters. If we think something needs to be changed, then just pray about it. God will do the work Himself if something needs to be changed.

I also felt a few nights later, He wanted me to add that He is a jealous God and we should always put HIM first.

In my dream, the Lord showed me two examples. As we were standing on the circle of the Earth, I saw a woman that looked familiar, but I couldn't place the face with a name. She looked at me and said, "I didn't like what you said." Apparently she had thought about what I said though and decided to change her life because I felt she had got her heart right with the Lord. I don't know if this person is still alive or not at this point. I have come across many people through my jail ministry. I can't remember everyone, but this may have been how I knew her.

The second example was of a man committing suicide. It was very hard to watch and very upsetting, but the Lord needed me to see it all play out. I know now this person I was seeing was someone that was in my husband's family. It was a special blessing to my husband and his sister, Gail. It brought them some peace and closure, but it's only an example of something God does in His mercy since the beginning of time. He loves everyone so much. He doesn't want anyone to be lost.

The Dream

God can and does change lives after someone commits the act of suicide. It's the same way for people on their death bed. It can happen the moment they repent before their last breath. God can slow down the process to allow them to feel conviction which causes them to repent. Even though we may think they died suddenly, the mind is the last thing to go. They could repent at the last second when conviction grips their heart in hopes of saving their soul. It can bring a positive outcome, despite whatever our own mind set has been about this subject.

So we need to stop judging where we think our friends and family could be. Let God be God and stop putting Him in a small box. Just because we think they should have come to God in a certain way, doesn't mean we are right. God can take care of any baptismal issues by supernatural methods. I believe there will be people in Heaven that came in under supernatural methods. God can supernaturally wash someone in His blood and take away their sins in seconds and change their destiny.

Don't misunderstand me. We all have to go through the cross. The Lord has a plan of salvation (see Acts 2:38-39) and we have to follow that plan and live an overcoming Christian life. Believe me. My mind has been blown away, too. I know how you're feeling, but God can perform salvation miracles! Don't close your mind. God is God after all. He can do anything.

With all this said, my advice is don't try getting your heart ready at the last minute. Don't play games with God. It's your soul at stake. Change your life now. Don't take a chance with your eternity. That would be very unwise.

Now to what I witnessed about the suicide that was playing out. I saw a man with a gun getting ready to commit suicide. It was like his spirit was racing to eternity and it was black from sin. After the man committed the act, I saw his spirit go off into the abyss. Jesus acted like He was about to leave, but he stopped for just a minute because he wanted me to keep watching. He wanted me to pay close attention to this part. The spirit of the man went down and then came back up. As it came up, it turned from black to clear then went straight to Heaven. I was stunned! I have had to come to terms with this.

I know what I saw, so at some point before his last breath, the man apparently saw the error of his ways and repented. The course of His destiny was set and there was no going back. However, he repented and God in all of His mercy accepted his repentance. God took care of any salvation issues in a supernatural way.

Then we leave this part of the dream and now I'm standing in the throne room. I'm standing in front of, but to the left of the throne, so it was almost a sideview. In the earlier part of the dream he was with me on the circle of the Earth and now He is sitting on the throne in all His glory. He was very beautiful and I'm almost certain his eyes were closed. I didn't know the reason for this. Isaiah 53:2 mentions that Jesus wasn't comely, but now seeing Him on the throne, I see nothing but comeliness and beauty. I noticed He was gold in appearance. I didn't understand this, so the next night I asked Him, "Why did you look gold?" He brought my mind to the Scripture in Revelation 1:15 which says “And His feet were like unto fine brass, as if they burned in a furnace;...” I got my answer!

The Lord and His throne were very large. He could have been a temple all on His own. I thought of the Scripture in Isaiah 66:1 that says, “Thus saith the Lord, The Heaven is my throne, and the Earth is my footstool.” The throne was beautiful and had a lot of gold on it. I had the feeling that it could even change colors. It says in Ezekiel 1:26, “a throne as the appearance of a sapphire stone.” I also had a feeling the throne was alive and that He could move with it. It seemed as though He could get up, but if He didn’t want to then the throne would just move with Him. When I saw all of this, it was like looking at a picture (nothing moved).

I looked to the left and saw a sea of humanity all standing before the throne. People from every nation, from all tribes, and all languages were standing before the throne. It was a great number of people. No man could count the number that I saw. It was an endless sea of people. There were no sinners, it was only the Redeemed.

They all had their books from their own lives with them. I looked back to the throne and all the books seemed to just go to Him. I watched as each book was read. Everyone will listen to your story and you will listen to others’ stories. He never moved. I’m not sure if it was Him reading or someone else. I think it was Him, although His lips never moved. I think He was speaking directly to our minds because I understood what was read.

The Dream

After he had gone through each person's book in this sea of humanity, he laid the last book down. He just stopped to think. He was very patient and a space of time passed. Everyone was completely silent and waiting. Then he somehow gave a cue to the sea of people giving them an opportunity to respond. All of a sudden there was going to be a praise that went up from the sea of humanity to Him that sits on the throne. It will be like nothing we have ever heard. I wasn't privileged to hear this before I left the Throne Room, but I understood what was about to happen.

I left the throne room and was back at the celebration of my own life. I looked at the completed copy of my book they had presented to me. I then gave my final approval of the book.

I walked over to the end of a table and sat down by myself. I started to pray my last prayer before leaving. I knew my life was over and my new life was about to begin. I started praying and went over a checklist of everything I had done to make sure I had not forgotten anything I needed to do. I said to myself, "I've done this and I've done that." I asked Him if there was anything else I needed to do before I left. I said, "Lord, do I need to feed the 5,000?" Then I thought, "No, You have already done that, but if you need me to do this with another 5,000, let me know before I leave." I realized others were coming behind me that could take care of that, but I do think He was reminding me to get busy working when I got better.

I didn't see myself leave. I awoke at this point and saw the Lord leaving my room. It looked like He walked into another dimension through a door. As the door was closing, I could see His glory rays following after Him and they flowed back through the bottom of the door. It was the purist white color. Nothing on Earth could compare to how white it was. It was His righteousness and holiness. It was absolutely beautiful!

My first thought was, “I’m alive and I need to get busy working on my book.” Needless to say, I couldn’t sleep the rest of the night. I knew I would never be the same again.

Takeaways from the Dream

The following is a checklist of my takeaways from the dream. We have to be willing to change our mindsets if God gives us a new revelation. I had to change mine on some of these things.

1. Stop judging others' lives and the way we think they should live their lives. If you feel they should do something differently, then just go pray about it. God will do the work. If something needs to be changed, it's between them and God, Don't judge, backbite, or pick apart your brothers and sisters. We are not their judge. God is.

2. We are all on the same journey trying to get to the same destination. Every story is different, so work on your own story and make it look as good as you can.

No one will be worried about your story, They will only be concerned with their own story. Go work on it and do the best you can. Let's bring the Lord all the glory He deserves.

3. Know every word you speak can and does change lives and destinies. Our words are very powerful and prayer changes everything. Go pray with confidence.

4. Stop worrying about your loved ones that have already passed away. Go rest in knowing that we serve a God we can trust. He has the power to change lives and destinies at the end of their lives before their last breath. He does do this, regardless of what our beliefs, ideas, and mindsets are. Stop putting our great, big God in a small box

5. Just because someone dies by suicide or has a deathbed repentance experience doesn't mean they are lost. God gives them every opportunity, even if it's at the last second to repent and change their destiny. In these cases where someone repents at the very end, God can take care of any spiritual and/or baptismal issues supernaturally. It happens all the time. However, this is no excuse to live your life however you want and expect to change at the last moment. Everyone has to go through the cross. God has a plan for us to live an overcoming Christian life, so don't play with God and your soul. We all have to follow the Bible's instructions for the plan of salvation. If you don't know how to start this journey, see Acts 2:38.

No man is an island. We are a team working together for the Kingdom. We need each other. 1 Corinthians 3:6-9 talks about how one man planteth, another watereth, but God giveth the increase.

Conclusion

This story you can use as a basic foundation and plug your own life into it. I will be held responsible by God for how I relay it. You may have had your own vision from God and Yours may not be exactly like mine, but that doesn't mean I was wrong or that you're wrong. All I know is this is exactly what I saw. All of this story is true to the best of my ability. If you change the story in any way, you will be held responsible, not me. Instead of trying to relate to others what I said, you can refer people to the website so they can hear me tell the story myself. It is available on www.fpclexington.org.

Clause: I'm sure there are stories and books that have been written on this subject. In no way have I copied my story from any other account. God is my witness. I also have witnesses that my account is true. They know my life and trust my story. I have passed all this information to my mentor and my Pastor. I have replayed this over and over in my mind and with the people closest to me. Not one time have I received a check in my spirit that I was wrong. I have asked God that if I am wrong in any way to please reveal it to me. I feel very confident in the revelation I have received. Neither my mentor or my Pastor have stopped me in any way. If I have misunderstood in any way, I believe God would reveal it to me or to one of them. I know in the future God can enlighten me to any additional truths about the dream and if He does, I will relate it to you as I receive it, but only after I have related it to my mentor and Pastor. I will always be subject to this chain of authority.
