

- Week 1:
Words

12 Ways Your Phone is Changing You

- We Are Addicted to Distraction
- We Ignore Our Flesh & Blood
- We Crave Immediate Approval
- We Lose Our Literacy
- We Feed on the Produced
- We Become Like What We “Like”
- We Get Lonely
- We Get Comfortable in Secret Vices
- We Lose Meaning
- We Fear Missing Out
- We Become Harsh to One Another
- We Lose Our Place in Time

- Week 1:
Words
- Week 2:
2 Questions
and 1
Statement

How does the use of technology
add value...?

How does the use of
technology
Devalue...?

Each

Other

The “positioning”
of the church
in our world
(culture)
today...

May we ask the hard questions and hold each other accountable...

G

O

D

- Week 1:
Words
- Week 2:
2 Questions
and 1
Statement
- Today:
Connections

"I am the true vine, and my Father is the gardener."

Is Your Corporate Culture Connected or Disconnected?

"Customers will never love a company until the employees love it first." - Simon Sinek

in f t

By Entrepreneur's Organization @EntrepreneurOrg

Forbes

1,466 Views | Jul 24, 2018, 09:51am

Are We So Connected That We're Disconnected? 3 Ways To Break Through The Clutter

Paul Jankowski Contributor @CIBC Network

5 AM Sun Jan 27

psychologytoday.com

Psychology Today

Find a Therapist

Get Help

Magazine

Laura Choate Ed.D., LPC
Girls, Women, and Wellness

Connecting With Your Children in a Disconnected Culture

How to connect with our kids instead of our devices

Posted Aug 19, 2015

SHARE

TWEET

EMAIL

MORE

Source: ClearFrost/Flickr

Our primary task in parenting is to love and connect with our children. This is vital to everything else and is the most important gift you can give to your child. Loving our sons and daughters comes naturally for most of us. In our fast-paced culture with multiple demands on our time, however, connecting with our children becomes more of a challenge. While parents are more kid-

John 15

Remaining

Joy/Love

Pruning

Friendship

Tracy Asamoah M.D.
Let's Reconnect

Inding Personal Connection i Disconnected World

How we connect to one another helps define our humanity.

Updated Apr 02, 2018

SHARE

TWEET

EMAIL

MORE

Over a decade of working with children, adolescents and their families, the truth has risen to the surface. My work is the most fruitful and meaningful when I make a connection with those who I am working with. It connection, a thread between me and another, forms when what I connect with something inside of me. It is a starting point for validation and understanding of another's experience, in other words, empathy.

We are wired for interpersonal interactions. Our brains were designed for it and our bodies react physically when we experience a lack of

The and Vine the Branches

⁵“I am the vine, ye are the branches:
He that abideth in me, and I in him,
the same bringeth forth much fruit:
for without me ye can do nothing.”

John 15:5 KJV Romans 6:1-9 KJV Phillipians 4:13 KJV