*“If your enemy is hungry, give him food to eat;
if he is thirsty, give him water to drink.
In doing this, you will heap burning coals on his head,
and the Lord will reward you.”*

Proverbs 25:21-22

The hope implied by the expression in our present verse is that the enemy's realization of his wrongdoing might lead him to repentance. For it is unthinkable that the man who feeds him and gives him to drink would do these acts of kindness for the purpose of revenge, that is, to see his enemy in spiritual, mental, or physical torment.
