

THE THRESHOLD

NOT THE DESTINATION

The Jordan represents transition requiring faith and obedience. Jordan is the threshold—not the destination.

Threshold - the entrance to a new stage, representing a boundary or starting line for action.

Crossing of the Jordan demanded movement before evidence. The waters part after obedience begins. Faith is proven by stepping in, not standing back.

This narrative is about leadership and God's people under clear divine instructions, divine timing and divine manifestation. The miracle didn't just begin when the children of Israel entered the water. God was working before they ever began walking.

Dry ground speaks of:

- Stability in Transition
- No Residue From the Wilderness
- No Slipping While Changing Seasons

Stability in transition is not the absence of change, it is the presence of order, anchoring, and discernment while change is occurring.

Stability in transition is rooted in knowing one's people (identity), one's purpose (intent of existence) and the power of prayer (intercession projectile).

The Residue From the Wilderness consisted of slavery mindsets; chronic complainers and murmurers & hearts resistant to authority and order.

No Slipping While Changing Seasons refers to maintaining spiritual footing, integrity, and alignment while God is shifting assignments, rhythms, and responsibilities.

It is a declaration that transition will not cost you stability.

A Spiritual truth that's lifted with the Jordan is consecration before expansion.
