

MORE

The Language of Expansion

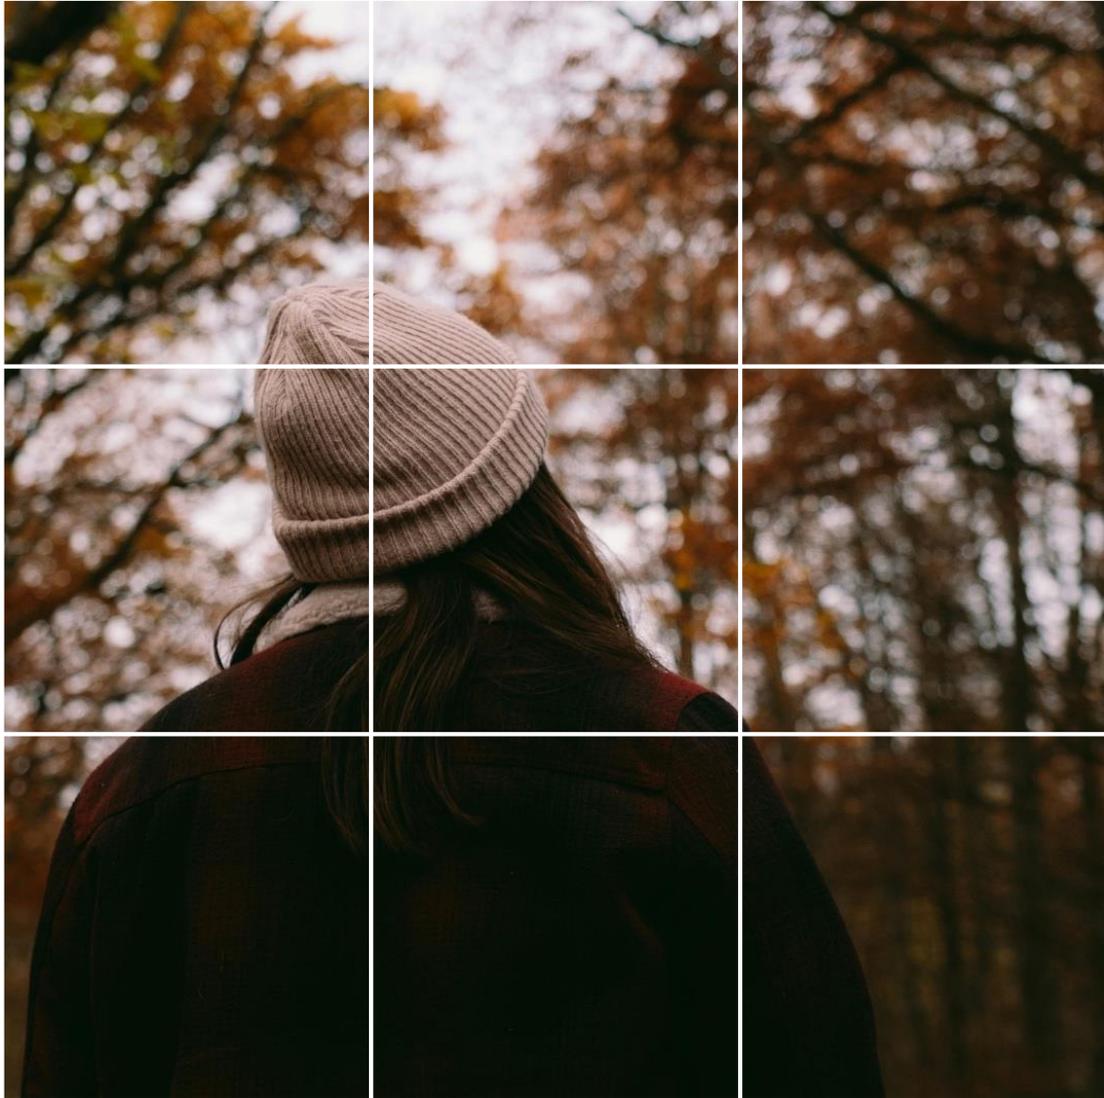

“More” is the language of expansion. Heaven is announcing that where you are is not where you will remain. God is stretching you—not to break you, but to prepare you.

When the Spirit begins to whisper the word “More,” it is not simply a promise of increase. It is an announcement of expansion.

Heaven is declaring that what you have seen of yourself is not the full measure of who you are becoming. Your current storage space is not your final capacity. The grace that carried you this far is now stretching you for what is next.

When God says “More,” He is not only speaking about what He will place in your hands; He is speaking about what He will develop within your life. More wisdom. More maturity. More stewardship. More responsibility. (“...to whom much is given, much is required” – Luke 12:48)

Sometimes we hear “more” and think it means more comfort, but often it means more alignment, more discipline, and more trust in God. Because God will never expand your territory without also expanding your capacity to carry it and the grace to govern it.

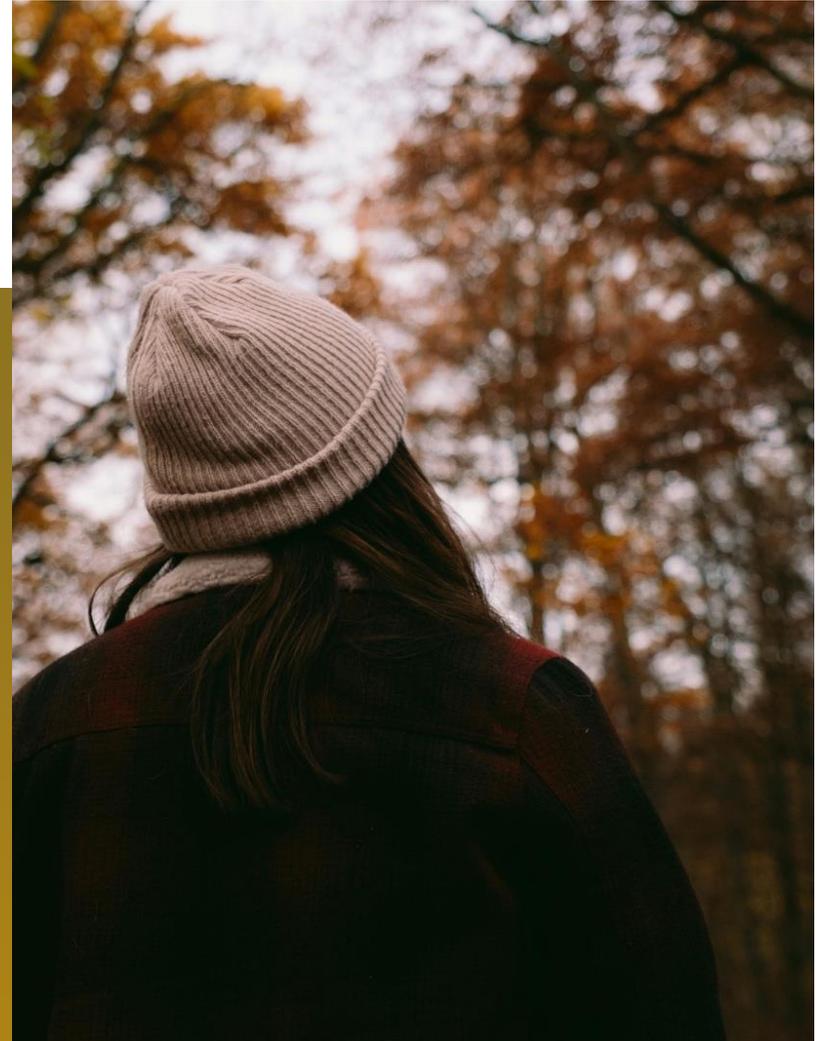

So, when the Spirit says “More,” do not shrink back in intimidation. Do not measure your future by your current strength. Instead, recognize that God is enlarging your inner territory so that your outer assignment can grow.

When God begins to say “More,” He is not merely promising increase. Expansion in the Kingdom always begins inside before it manifests outside.

More Within You; More Required of You; & More Entrusted to You.

1. More Within You

God Expands Your Inner Capacity

Notice the phrase: “the power that works in us.”

2. More Required of You

Expansion Demands Alignment

When God says “More,” He is also announcing greater responsibility. Expansion is not only about receiving more, it is about becoming more disciplined, more surrendered, and more aligned. God does not expand our influence while leaving our character undeveloped.

3. More Entrusted to You

God does not only release blessings, He releases trust. When Heaven says “More,” it means God is preparing to place greater assignments, influence, and responsibility into your hands.

Before God enlarges territory, influence, or assignment, He enlarges the inner life of the believer. Expansion is not only about receiving more, it is about becoming more disciplined, more surrendered, and more aligned.
