Can you name a movie or novel that had a 'strong character arc', where someone changed for the better through the difficulties and challenges?

Character isn't...suspecting the worst in someone! How prone to saying "He thinks..." or "She thinks"...as if you are a mind reader?

Character isn't...deflective, dismissive or defensives! Why are these a sign of lacking character?

Character isn't...refusing to own your stuff and doesn't make excuses! Are you more of a 'make excuses' kind of person or a 'make a way' kind of person? Do you own your stuff?
