Zechariah 12:2-3 New King James Version

2 “Behold, I will make Jerusalem a cup of [a]drunkenness to all the surrounding peoples, when they lay siege against Judah and Jerusalem. 3 And it shall happen in that day that I will make Jerusalem a very heavy stone for all peoples; all who would heave it away will surely be cut in pieces, though all nations of the earth are gathered against it.

Will those prophecies come to pass soon, like in our lifetime?

'End Times' Perspective: A New Look at the 'Rapture'

GurujiMa

Two views of 'Rapture:' an act through the Christ that lifts the faithful into heaven; or an act of Christ-light that uplifts all to a new consciousness.

The 'Rapture' and the Earth's 'Dimensional Shift'

There are two ways to look at the 'Rapture' – one as an act of God, through the Christ, that lifts the Christian faithful into heaven where they are seated at the right hand of God. The other, as an act of God, through the Christ-light, that mediates the earth's 'dimensional shift' into a higher plane of vibration, carrying the earth and its inhabitants into a new realm of spiritual consciousness.

Both views are historical – one from a biblical Christian perspective, the other from the perspective of the Mayan Calendar, the Hopi prophecies, and the 'secrets' encoded within the Great Pyramid of Gizeh as well as the 'secret' of the Sphinx itself.

A 'dimensional shift' can take place for a person or for a planet. In some instances it is referred to as 'ascension' or an 'ascension process' — a term that I am uncomfortable with because, historically, it has referred to a spiritual elite and left out the rest of humanity. However, we can speak more plainly of a process that the earth is currently going through that is affecting all of humanity, and that will do so even more in the future. This process, sometimes referred to as the shift from three-dimensional to four-dimensional reality, has to do with the joining of the upper and lower realms through the increase of spiritual light on the earth. It is the embodiment, on earth, of the Star of David.

Understanding how the higher vibrations of light might affect humanity is important in order to picture what might happen if the heightening of spiritual vibration (the higher frequencies of light) were to be speeded up on the earth. Up until now, it has proceeded gradually, though not without dramatic effect as we have witnessed in the current conflict in Iraq, in Israel-Palestine, and in the intensification of acts of terrorism both at home and abroad. But what if a major shift in spiritual energy were to occur rather suddenly? What if the earth itself were to move more deeply into 'the photon belt' and were, in a moment, to suddenly be thrust past a threshold of light which the darkness could no longer penetrate? What would advance past this threshold, and what would remain behind?

...and, in a moment, to suddenly be thrust past a threshold of light which the darkness could no longer penetrate.

This is the mystery of the 'Rapture' which, in the prophetic language of the Bible, has sought to capture this entire process in concrete, biblical terms. The 'Rapture' is not false. It is true. But it is true in an entirely different way than those who are current proponents of biblical interpretation are interpreting it. It is also not part of a 'pre-tribulation' scenario, but rather something that is linked to the entire process of purification of the earth that has been outlined above – a process that has consequences for both the expansion of light and for the expansion of darkness.

Homo Deus

According to Harari's main argument, technical development could ultimately make homo sapiens 'redundant' (that is, homo sapiens as the currently known human race) and replace it with 'homo deus,' that is, the divine man. The result of the author's technological utopia is the human consciousness enhanced by machines and made immortal, or possibly even separated from the physical brain, that can be 'developed' to exceed the consciousness and intelligence of today's homo sapiens. He perceives and imagines this in the sense of 'transhumanism', which has become a fairly

“Moreover, most faiths turned death into the main source of meaning in life. Try to imagine Islam, Christianity or the ancient Egyptian religion in a world without death. These creeds taught people that they must come to terms with death and pin their hopes on the afterlife, rather than seek to overcome death and live forever here on earth.”

The astral realm - nonphysical level or realm of being, separate from the physical one but accessible from it by means of one's astral body or by people with psychic powers: believed to be inhabited by angels and other nonphysical beings, including the souls of people who have died or have yet to be born.
