An Inside Job

Psalm 51:1-10 KJV

1 “Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy lovingkindness:

2 According unto the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions.

3 Wash me throughly from mine iniquity, And cleanse me from my sin.

4 For I acknowledge my transgressions: And my sin is ever before me.

5 Against thee, thee only, have I sinned, and done this evil in thy sight: That thou mightest be justified when thou speakest, and be clear when thou judgest.

6 Behold, I was shapen in iniquity; And in sin did my mother conceive me. Behold, thou desirest truth in the inward parts: And in the hidden part thou shalt make me to know wisdom.

7 Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean: Wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.

8 Make me to hear joy and gladness; That the bones which thou hast broken may rejoice.

9 Hide thy face from my sins, And blot out all mine iniquities.

10 Create in me a clean heart, O God; And renew a right spirit within me."

Introduction: The pattern of mystery movies, are to create an attentive intensity, with the idea of getting you to sit patiently and anxiously through a movie, until the end. There are scenes called plots that are designed to misguide you to the point where you think you've got that thing figured out, but then a shift happens, and you end up realizing that the clue was just a cue, and not a correct conclusion.

But there is a standard principle about certain movies, where you may not know who did it, but what you do know is this. If something is that sacred and secretly secured, and that sanctity and security of that thing gets broken into and is invaded or interrupted, you know this, it had to be an inside job.

Today I am not here to give you cues nor clues, but truth. What we are about to converse over today, will not be centered around the mysteries in your but the history of your life. Because if truth be told, everything bad about us, is not a mystery, but the reality of the historical comforts of our preferred pleasures, passions and in many cases human perversions.

Pinpoint Particulars

- External Problems are always the result of Internal Persuasions.
- The Practice of External Perversions are due to the Power of Internal Proclivities.
- The External Pursuit of Purpose is always driven by the Internal Power of Passion.

Anything that you have the power to do, there is an internal force infusing that power.

What you did, done and are still doing, if it's good or bad, it's being done under the influence of an internal force.

You hate because you refuse to love.

You lie because you reject and fear truth.

You fear because you reject faith

You have worry and anxiety because you won't abandon your need to control and embrace the power of trust and hope in God, through Christ.

We have to learn to let up, let go and live free in Christ.

All of the bad things we do, come from a place of internally undisciplined, unbroken and unbridled philosophical, psychological and pathological persuasions.
