

Jesus was keenly aware that He had only a _____ left with His guys who He greatly _____.

If you knew that you only had a few more hours with those you love before God took you home, what would you want to leave with them?

Jesus left His followers an example to imitate of making it a priority to seek to _____ one another instead of seeking to be _____ by others, of treating others like the _____ one in the relationship.

What are some ways in which you are tempted to one of Peter's responses to Jesus: mistrusting when He doesn't make sense OR rushing ahead of what He doing?

Jesus became _____ over the knowledge that one of His closest friends was going to _____ Him.

Why do you think it is so easy for those who are not His to walk among those who are His?

In some of Jesus' last moments before His death, He chose to leave His followers with a key principle to be lived out among them. He, the Master of the Universe and Heir of All Things, took the place of a slave so that we would never believe or act as if we were above serving the person sitting next to us. And yet the blessing doesn't come through simply knowing or believing that principle, but to actually live it out.

Where are the dusty feet among us? Let's come together not to be served but to find ways to lower ourselves to serve. If it wasn't beneath our Lord, it should never be beneath us. Let us be those who don't simply walk with followers of Jesus but those who also follow Him to the point that it costs us. A life of self-sacrifice always does. Just look at our Master.
