

JEREMIAH

The background features a light blue-green wash with a faint, golden-yellow illustration of a gnarled tree branch adorned with small, five-petaled flowers. A scroll with a yellow border is partially visible at the top and bottom edges. In the bottom right corner, there is a small, dark, cylindrical object, possibly a scroll or a container.

36:1 In the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD:

2 “Take a scroll and write on it all the words that I have spoken to you against Israel and Judah and all the nations, from the day I spoke to you, from the days of Josiah until today.

3 It may be that the house of Judah will hear all the disaster that I intend to do to them, so that every one may turn from his evil way, and that I may forgive their iniquity and their sin.”

The background features a detailed illustration of a vine with clusters of grapes, rendered in a style reminiscent of a tapestry or a classical painting. The vine is light brown and green, with clusters of small, light-colored grapes. A scroll is visible in the bottom right corner, partially unrolled, showing a dark, textured surface. The entire scene is set against a light blue background with a subtle, textured pattern.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote on a scroll at the dictation of Jeremiah all the words of the LORD that he had spoken to him. 5 And Jeremiah ordered Baruch, saying, “I am banned from going to the house of the LORD,

6 so you are to go, and on a day of fasting in the hearing of all the people in the LORD's house you shall read the words of the LORD from the scroll that you have written at my dictation.

You shall read them also in the hearing of all the men of Judah who come out of their cities.

11 When Micaiah the son of Gemariah, son of Shaphan, heard all the words of the LORD from the scroll,

12 he went down to the king's house, into the secretary's chamber, and all the officials were sitting there: Elishama the secretary, Delaiah the son of Shemaiah, Elnathan the son of Achbor, Gemariah the son of Shaphan, Zedekiah the son of Hananiah, and all the officials.

The background features a light blue, textured surface with a faint, golden-yellow illustration of a gnarled tree branch adorned with small, five-petaled flowers. In the bottom right corner, a portion of a rolled-up scroll is visible, showing its textured surface and a dark, circular opening at the top. The text is centered and framed by a thin, golden-yellow border.

13 And Micaiah told them all the words that he had heard, when Baruch read the scroll in the hearing of the people.

14 Then all the officials sent Jehudi the son of Nethaniah, son of Shelemiah, son of Cush, to say to Baruch, “Take in your hand the scroll that you read in the hearing of the people, and come.” So Baruch the son of Neriah took the scroll in his hand and came to them.

15 And they said to him, “Sit down and read it.” So Baruch read it to them.

16 When they heard all the words, they turned one to another in fear. And they said to Baruch, “We must report all these words to the king.”

The background features a light blue and green illustration of a scroll with a vine and leaves. A quill pen is visible in the bottom right corner. The text is centered on the scroll.

17 Then they asked Baruch, “Tell us, please, how did you write all these words? Was it at his dictation?” 18 Baruch answered them, “He dictated all these words to me, while I wrote them with ink on the scroll.”

19 Then the officials said to Baruch, “Go and hide, you and Jeremiah, and let no one know where you are.”
