- How do Jesus's actions, like stooping down to write in the dirt, reflect His attitude towards sin and those who sin?
- What does Jesus's statement 'the one without sin among you should be the first to throw a stone' reveal about His view of judgment? In what ways can we be like the Pharisees, quick to judge others without addressing our own sin?
- How can we practically 'bring our sin to the light' in order to experience the freedom that Jesus offers? What steps can you take to combat feelings of shame and condemnation in your life?
- How can understanding that we are all 'adulterers' help us to daily repent and run to the cross of Jesus?
- In what ways can our understanding of grace change how we interact with those who are struggling with sin? How can you encourage your friends or family to bring their struggles to the light instead of hiding them?
- What does it mean to be 'called and commissioned by Christ' in the context of our daily lives? What can you do this week to live this out?
