

5-Day Bible Reading Plan and Devotional Guide

Based on Romans 10:11-13 and Supporting Themes

Day 1: No Shame in Christ

Reading: Romans 10:11-13; Psalm 116:4-5

Devotional:

There is a shame that awaits those who stand before God having rejected Him. It is not merely embarrassment but the crushing weight of realizing what was freely offered and willingly refused. Yet for the believer, that shame has already been absorbed. Jesus bore it completely. He became the shame so you would never have to carry it. Your faith in Him is not a gamble or a guess. It is a settled anchor. You will not stand before God exposed and condemned. You will stand covered. Call on His name today and rest in that certainty.

Personal Reflection: Have you placed your full trust in Jesus, or are you still trusting in your own efforts and religious activity to secure your standing before God?

Practical Application: Write down one area where you have been relying on your own works rather than Christ. Surrender it to God in prayer today.

[illegible]

This image shows a single sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

This image shows a blank sheet of white paper with horizontal ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

Day 4: One in Christ

Reading: Galatians 3:28-29; Ephesians 2:11-13

Devotional:

The world's first instinct is to divide. It separates people by race, status, gender, history, and achievement. The church is called to a radically different way of living. In Christ, those distinctions lose their power to separate. You are not merely an individual believer on a private spiritual journey. You are part of a body, a family, a unified people brought near by the blood of Christ. Unity is not a suggestion or a preference. It is a command. The question is not whether you believe in unity but whether your daily choices, your responses in conflict, and your treatment of others actually reflect it.

Personal Reflection: Where in your relationships — at home, at church, in your community — are you choosing separation or isolation rather than the hard work of unity?

Practical Application: Reach out today to someone in your church community from whom you have grown distant. Take one step toward restoration or deeper connection, choosing unity over comfort.

This image shows a full page of white paper with horizontal blue or grey ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page, providing a template for handwriting practice. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the paper.

Day 5: Call on the Name of the Lord

Reading: Psalm 105:1; 2 Peter 3:9; Jonah 3:5

Devotional:

To call on the name of the Lord is not a casual phrase. It is a desperate, faith-filled cry directed at a God who is fully capable of answering and deeply willing to save. He is not slow. He is not indifferent. He is patient, holding the door open because He desires that none should perish. The people of Nineveh were deeply wicked, and God still ran toward their repentance the moment they turned to Him. That same God is available to you and to every person you know who has not yet called on His name. Do not take that access for granted. Use it. Declare it. Share it.

Personal Reflection: Is calling on the name of the Lord a regular, genuine practice in your life, or has it become a ritual phrase emptied of its urgency and meaning?

Practical Application: Pray specifically today for three people in your life who have not yet called on the name of the Lord. Ask God to give you both the opportunity and the courage to share the gospel with at least one of them this week.

[illegible]