CHECK-IN: What is something in your life that you once thought would change quickly, but you eventually realized was actually a process?

1. Transformation Begins With Faith

Read Romans 1:16–17

Discuss

1. What stands out to you most about these verses? What does Paul say is the source of salvation and righteousness?
2. The message emphasized that transformation is “a story about Jesus’ work, not ours.” How does that challenge the way you normally think about spiritual growth?
3. Why do you think it is so easy for Christians to believe that we are saved by faith but then feel like we have to earn God’s approval through our performance?
4. Have you ever found yourself on the “endless treadmill of religious performance”—feeling like you have to try harder, do better, or be more spiritual to prove your faith? What did that look like for you?
5. How would your relationship with God change if you truly lived from the belief that you are justified by faith rather than constantly trying to prove yourself to Him?

2. Transformation Leads Us Toward Holiness

Read Romans 6:19–23

Discuss

1. What do these verses teach us about the difference between our old life of sin and our new life with God?
2. Verse 22 says that being set free from sin leads to holiness. What do you think it means that holiness is something we are being led toward rather than something we instantly achieve?
3. The message described this passage as an encouragement, not condemnation. Why is that distinction important when we are struggling with sin?
4. How can we hold two truths together: God has completely forgiven us, and God is still changing us?

5. When you struggle or fall into sin, what is your natural response—shame, hiding, trying harder, giving up, turning toward God, or something else? What would it look like to respond differently?

3. You Are Already Transformed—and You Are Still On the Way

Read Romans 7:15–25

Discuss

1. What does Paul's struggle in this passage tell us about the reality of being a follower of Jesus?
2. How does Paul's honesty challenge the idea that a "good Christian" should have everything figured out and never struggle?
3. The message described transformation as "Already" and "On the Way."
 - Already: Jesus has accomplished the work for us through the cross.
 - On the Way: The Holy Spirit continues to guide and transform us.
4. Which of these two truths is easier for you to believe? Which one is harder?
5. The message said, "If you struggle—that is the journey." How does that change the way you view your own struggles?
6. What might it look like to replace the thought "I'm failing because I'm struggling" with "God is still working in me, and I can keep walking"?
7. What does "sola fide—faith alone" mean to you after hearing this message? How could making faith—not performance—the focus change the way you live?

4. Personal Reflection

Where in my life do I feel like my transformation is "lagging behind"?

- Is there a sin or struggle I have been carrying with shame?
- Have I been measuring my faith by my performance?
- Have I been comparing my spiritual journey to someone else's?
- Is there an area where I need to trust that God is working even though I cannot see the change yet?
- What would it look like for me to "keep walking" instead of giving up?

What is one truth from this message that you need to remember this week?

What is one step you can take to keep walking with Jesus—whether that means continuing to learn, spending time with Him, finding support, asking questions, or allowing Him to bring healing to a wounded place?

Group Prayer

Take a moment to quietly bring to God the area of struggle or transformation that came to mind during this discussion.

Then pray together:

“Father, thank You that our salvation and transformation are not dependent on our ability to be perfect. Thank You that Jesus has already done what we could never do for ourselves. Help us rest in Your grace and trust You with the places where we are still struggling. Remind us that we are not failures, that You are with us on the journey, and that You are still transforming us even when we cannot see it. Give us endurance to keep walking, courage to be honest, people who can support us, and faith to believe that Your work in us is not finished. Help us live by faith from beginning to end. Amen.”
