ADDRESSING the CRISIS of ABUSE in the CHURCH

“Thus says the Lord God, Behold, I am against the shepherds, and I will require my sheep at their hand and put a stop to their feeding the sheep. No longer shall the shepherds feed themselves. I will rescue my sheep from their mouths, that they may not be food for them.”

Ezekiel 34:10

The findings of an investigation into the abuse crisis within the Southern Baptist Church were released a few days ago, shocking Christian and non-Christian alike. The investigation revealed, with overwhelming clarity, a culture of abuse in which victims who came forward were bullied, belittled, humiliated, and ignored, all to protect the Church as an institution.

While many, including myself, read the details of this investigation with shock, there was at least one group of people who were not shocked by these findings, the victims themselves. How can we as Anglican Christians at St. Peter’s Church in Loveland, Colorado, respond to this heartbreaking news? Let me begin to answer that question by identifying some ways we should not respond, ways that are all too common within the church when abuse is exposed.

We have to avoid treating abuse as a problem for other traditions. There was a time when Protestant Christians could treat the scandal of sexual abuse among clergy as a Roman Catholic problem. Clearly, that time is no more. The abusive clergy named in the report released last week are married Protestants. This is not a problem just for Roman Catholics, nor is it a problem just for Southern Baptists, it is a crisis plaguing every church and every tradition.

We could respond by treating the crisis of abuse as a case of just a “few bad apples,” and flee to the comforts of an individualism found nowhere in Scripture. The fact of the matter is that the American Church is facing this crisis, not because of a few bad apples, but because a bad church culture has taken hold within American Christianity. Sexual abuse is the most heinous manifestation of a deeper problem, which is the abuse of power. As Christians, we have to take seriously the fact that the church is allowing so many leaders to behave abusively, even rewarding and exalting abusive leadership, instead of reminding leaders that they are shepherds committed to the charge of caring for Christ’s flock by laying down their lives in imitation of the Good Shepherd.

We could respond by taking comfort in policies and procedures. Policies and procedures are necessary, but they are not a sufficient solution to the crisis of abuse. If a church had policies and procedures for abuse written by God himself, and leadership who refuse to take victims of abuse seriously, those policies and procedures would mean nothing. As the sociologist Peter Drucker once said, “culture eats strategy for breakfast.”

We could respond by telling ourselves that this could never happen here, and that the clergy of St. Peter’s would never do such horrible, abusive things. I pray that this is true, but we cannot let our guard down as a community. Everyone in the Church hates abuse and wants to take it seriously, until a clergy-person or leader they love and trust is the one who is accused of impropriety. That is where the rubber meets the road, and that is often where victims are cast aside and treated with indifference or injustice.

St. Peter’s has to respond by forming a culture that takes abuse seriously. Our vestry has just finished reading and discussing a book which seeks to address the crisis of abuse in our churches called, A Church Called Tov: Forming a Goodness Culture that Resists Abuses of Power and Promotes Healing. “Tov” is a Hebrew word meaning “goodness.” In short, the purpose of that book is to present a vision of a church that has a culture of goodness, rather than a culture which seeks to protect itself through toxicity and abuse. I am not so naive as to believe reading a book will be sufficient to address this crisis, but I do encourage everyone within St. Peter’s who wishes for our community to be a place of healing, rest, wholeness, grace, and goodness to read this book, and join myself and the vestry in committing to the vision presented in that book.

Obviously, we cannot say all that needs to be said to address this crisis in one short article. We can, however, identify the starting point for any future health. That starting point is taking abuse and abuse victims seriously. We have to acknowledge that this crisis is real, it is not a manufactured consequence of PC culture run amok, but an existential moment for the life of the Church. God will not stand by and allow shepherds to abuse their flock. Read Ezekiel 34 if you do not believe me. God will not bless a church with a culture of abuse. The American Church often points away from itself to generate fear that some outside force will destroy it, but the only thing the Church in all times and all places ever has to fear is its own lack of faithfulness. God in his faithfulness cannot permit abuse to carry on in His name. God's mercy is on display when a Church that permits and cultivates abuses of power fails and closes its doors.

Is there another way? Yes, thanks be to God. There is the way of the Good Shepherd, whose strength was shown in weakness; whose power was displayed in serving the least and the lost; who gives life through his own death; whose brokenness and identification with the abused is how we are made whole. We pray to the Good Shepherd that St. Peter's Anglican Church would be a community of Christians who resist abuses of power and promote healing. Amen.

FOR SEEKING GOD

Teach me to seek you, and as I seek you, show yourself to me; for I cannot seek you unless you show me how, and I will never find you unless you show yourself to me. Let me seek you by desiring you, and desire you by seeking you; let me find you by loving you, and love you in finding you. Amen.

ST COLUMBA FEAST DAY JUNE 9th

Saint Columba of Iona, known to the Irish as “Dove of the Church”, was born in Ireland in AD 521 as a prince of Clan O’Donnell. He was baptized in County Donegal in Temple Douglas by his uncle St. Crunathan. As a student of St. Finnian, he was ordained a deacon and eventually a priest. He founded religious communities at Derry in AD 546 and later at Kells and Swords. An argument between St. Columba and King Diarmid in AD 561 led to the Battle of Cooldrevny, and following this St. Columba was excommunicated by the church court. Later the excommunication was lifted and he was exiled to Isle of Hy. Because Hy was still visible from Ireland, he moved on. He sailed to Iona where he founded a religious community to convert the pagan Picts who inhabited Scotland’s mainland.

St. Columba was very energetic in his efforts to evangelize, and he eventually turned his monastery into a school for missionaries. It was on Iona that he was visited by other monks such as St. Brendan, St. Flannan and St. Finbar. Dying in AD597, was buried on Iona, and was followed by St. Aidan. It is believed that St. Columba’s body may have been moved to County Down in Ireland. His Feast Day is now celebrated yearly on June 9th, which was the day of his death. He is the patron saint of Derry in Northern Ireland, also for floods, bookbinders, and poets.

BEVERLY JEANETTE SCHRECK 1950 - 2022

On Thursday, May 26, 2022 Beverly (Bev) Jeannette Schreck, loving wife and mother, passed away at the age of 72. Beverly was born on January 21, 1950 in Chicago, Illinois to John Schlechter and Rosie (Coe) Schlechter. She studied British Literature at Willamette University for one year prior to marrying her grade school sweetheart, John Schreck. The two married November 20, 1971 and raised children Heather, Erica, James, and Brianne.

Beverly was an avid reader, the family genealogist, and equestrian. She loved showing and raising Irish Setters, hiking in Rocky Mountain National Park, and enjoying a good concert. Later in life, she indulged her love of travel and traveled to Ireland, Scotland, England, Australia, and New Zealand, where she bungee-jumped from the Auckland bridge! She was known for her loving personality and gentle kindness.

Beverly was preceded in death by her father, John, and her mother, Rosie. She is survived by her husband, John, sister, Pamela, children Heather, Erica, James, and Brianne, sons-in-law, grandchild Henry, and several cousins, nieces, and nephews.

A memorial service will be held Friday, July 1, 2022 at the St. Peter's Anglican Church at 10:00 AM. Flowers or donations may be given to St. Peter's Anglican Church in remembrance of all the parish's support of the family.

HONORING 2022 GRADUATES

St. Peter's will be honoring high school and college graduates of 2022 on Sunday, June 5th. If you are a recent graduate, be sure to attend so the parish can celebrate your great accomplishments! Congratulations on a job well done!

SANCTUARY FLAGS of the SAINTS

If you are new to St Peter's you may have noticed the sudden arrival of flags hanging in the sanctuary. What are they and why are they now there? Well, actually these flags have been a part of the St. Peter's since 2017 when the parish first arrived at this building. After a refurbishing time that painted the inside with new white paint it was determined that the white wall look was – well – just a little “blah”. How could some color be added in a manner that was relatively inexpensive and appropriate for the church? A suggestion was to display flags representing saints of the church.

Saint's flags in some ways may seem rather common, but once one gets past the flag for England (Saint George), the flag for Scotland (Saint Andrew), and the flag for the state of Alabama (Saint Patrick), it takes a bit of searching to identify others.

Flags of the saints can in some ways be considered cloth icons representing saints just as written (painted) icons do. Being placed in the sanctuary, the flags allow these symbols of saints to oversee our church not just on All Saints Day, but all year round. Why were the flags taken down? At Christmas it was thought that attendance would increase at services, and that the upper seating area would be needed. It was also thought that the flags might obstruct the view of those sitting in the upper area. In addition, there also seemed a high probability that the upper seating would be needed during the new year. This did not occur, but it was decided to not return the flags until after Easter services.

The fourteen (14) flags in order beginning from above the kitchen entrance are: St Andrew, St Alban, St David, St Nicholas, St George, St Piran, St Cuthbert, St Peter, St Wite, St Patrick, St Petroc, St Richard, St Oswald and St Clement. A chart posted on the bulletin board in the southeast corner of the sanctuary (near the Vesting Room) can also help you identify each one. Three of these flags can also be found on the outside playground structure. The fourth flag is that of St James the Great.

ZETEO MISSIONS UPDATE

Thank you all for participating in the Zeteo Missions update meeting after church on May 15th. We were also especially grateful to have Zeteo Director Kate with us via Zoom even though it was 1:00Am in The Philippines. As always, Kate answered many questions and she expressed her thanks for the St Peter's connection with Zeteo.

At present Kate is continuing to work on the new licensure requirements cast upon them by The Philippine Government. Some of these requirements we can help her meet with what we enclose in the monthly boxes we ship to her. She will be providing an updated list of needs, especially as they relate to seasons of the year when the climate goes from being hot and wet to hotter and wetter. Some needs as always are difficult to anticipate. For example, they were afraid the medicines sent in the past would reach their expiration date without being used. Then The Philippine elections came around and all of Zeteo's went off site to vote and 100% returned with something (then passed on to about half of the children) that then exhausted almost all of the cold medicine in stock. On some of the requests, a specific brand is asked for simply because with children, pieces and parts can be inter-changeable when something is lost or broken. Also, there is no sense in the church sending things that are easy to obtain, or less expensive, in The Philippines.

A new child has joined the mission community! Sammy, really named Samantha, is a two-year old. Little is known about her other than she is not presently verbalizing. This brings the total number of children cared for on-site to twelve. Remember, there is also staff members Jake's and Jen's son, Nathan, who also lives on site. That makes the number really thirteen. Jake is still experiencing challenges from his concussion, but is slowly making his way back to work. Please continue to pray for his rapid and complete recovery.

Joy and her fiancé Victor have joined the staff. Joy is assisting Kate with administrative tasks, and Victor is in charge of the mission's kitchen. Having both on site is a real blessing. Please pray for their success and their upcoming December wedding. Joy is this month's "staff person of the month". A letter from her will be found below.

Hopefully there will be a Zeteo Birthday Party this summer where anyone at St Peter's can draw a name of a child or staff member and get them a birthday present. This was the brainchild of Debbie DeLorme and details are being worked out. We all agreed that it would be wonderful to let each person at the Mission know how special they are by recognizing their birthdays in this way!

INTRODUCING JOY at ZETEO

Joy De Vera is one of the newer staff members with the Zeteo Missions family. She began her work on February 2nd this year and will assist with administrative tasks that include paying bills, helping with financials, organizational matters and arranging travel. She age 27 as of May, planning to marry her boyfriend Victor in December after about eight years of dating.

Victor worked as an OFW in Malaysia for five years, and Joy worked in a pharmacy for four years. During this time, they both prayed to God that there would be a chance and opportunity to work together in the same field or nature of work. They were overwhelmed when God finally opened that door. They grabbed the opportunity to work together. They are also glad to have a chance to live their dream, and give all the credit to God, who is able. They are both excited to share their next journey together and are so grateful to be part of the Zeteo family.

OLIVIA (St Peter's Zeteo Child of May featured on the church bulletin board)

Olivia, at two months of age, arrived here during the hard lockdown in October 2020. We can say she is a survivor despite all she experienced during her short life to that time. She is a sweet baby for us, and a gift from God. Her life journey being here (Zeteo), it is so amazing. She came to us after a third time she had been pulled from the river. Her head was covered with boils, and it took over a year to overcome the constant painful infections. I can say she is a tough baby girl. She always wins when everyone catches a cold, cough or any viral symptoms – she is not struggling, she enjoys it. And that is true. As you can see, she looks to be a very quiet girl in her picture. She is a very active little girl. She really just loves to join in on toddler's activities, and she loves to be part of every single class. And now she is 18 months old and she is more engaged with all the things that she sees or heard. She loves to sing The Wheel on the Bus, If You are Happy and You Know It and Baby Shark. She also loves to learn all the animal sounds, and lastly, she LOVES to dance at every First Look, and to eat any meals on her table. That is who Olivia is right now.

Considering that she is adventurous and sturdy, there is one funny thing we have noticed about her: she HATES to touch any dirt with her hands. In some of her photos you can see what she looks like when she touches dirt. Olivia's favorite care giver is Mama Rodora. Sadly, it will be extremely hard for Olivia as in May Rodor left her position to continue her education. This the story of our sweet and lovely Olivia!

EZEKIEL UPDATE

Ezekiel had his surgery on May 28th, and it lasted for about six hours. The surgeon implied that not all the necessary work was completed. It is known that a bladder stone was removed, but there are no details on how much additional work was done. Possibly work on his kidney may still need to be done. It is reported that the preoperative hospital where he has been spending the most of the last three months is a great place of joy for him. He seems to be more advanced than most of the other children at the hospital, and everything is slow enough that he does not feel left out. Also, all the staff who work at the hospital are accustomed to being with severely disabled children, and he seems to get lots of attention. He will remain in this hospital until he is able to travel or until his next surgery is completed. Please continue to include him in your prayers.
