

THE HOUSE GOD BUILDS

"the infrastructure of a flourishing home"

NEW SERMON SERIES STARTS TODAY.

Easter weekend was wonderful. The worship was powerful, and it was a joy to celebrate the resurrection together. A special thank you to all of our worship and tech teams for the time, effort, and heart you poured in to make each service meaningful.

This week, we begin a new series: The House God Builds. We will be walking through Psalm 127 and 128, focusing on the infrastructure of a flourishing home. I am praying for all of us—that as God works through His Word, He would strengthen our homes and families in lasting ways.

Love you, church family.

The House God Builds Part One

April 12, 2026 Psalm 127:1-2

The Infrastructure of a Fruitful Home

The Wrong Builder (vs 1)

The False Security (vs 1)

The Weary Builder (vs 2)

The True Builder (vs 2)

Reflection Questions

According to 1 Corinthians 3:11–15, what determines whether our “building” lasts or burns?

According to Haggai 1:5–6, what are the signs that someone is laboring in vain?

What causes the things in Psalms 127:1–2 to be in vain?

According to Matthew 6:31–33, what is the difference between striving and seeking?

According to Philippians 4:6–7, how does God deal with anxious, overworked hearts?

According to Matthew 11:28–30, what kind of rest does Jesus offer—and who receives it?

How does the final phrase in Psalms 127:1–2 contrast with everything described earlier in the passage?

According to Matthew 7:24–27, what ultimately determines whether a house stands or falls?

What is your biggest takeaway from this study today?
