IV. Opportunities Abound

Mid-Week Devotion (Take time to pray & respond to the following)

Believers should long to see their unsaved friends and family come to know Christ. Respecting another's freedom to believe as they wish must never become an excuse for remaining silent about the Gospel. It is a privilege to know Jesus and to rest in the salvation He freely gives by grace through faith. One of the best ways to express our gratitude to God is by sharing the Good News with others.

We must follow His leading and His example. The Holy Spirit gives us discernment for the when, and Jesus shows us the how. We are His ambassadors—offering those who are lost the peace with God that surpasses all understanding!

Opportunities to share Christ are more abundant than we often realize. Let's be prayerful and intentional in recognizing and taking them.

Does the thought of sharing the Gospel excite or intimidate you? Will you let God work through you for His glory and the salvation of another?

Prayerfully, ask God to guide your timing, your words, and your heart as you share the Good News.
