

HARVEST
CHURCH

This Week's Sermon:

Who Am I? Who are My Companions? Is God With Me?
Psalm 119:57–64 (Heth)

1. The individual believer can make this appeal to God: I will go your way, I will do your will; please bless me with favor in all I do.
2. We must be able to say, I am not a perfect follower of God, but I am a good and loyal follower of Jesus, seeking always to bring Him pleasure and glory, quickly repenting when I fail, but always moving forward in good works.
3. God's blessing does not mean a smooth path all the time; rather, over the long haul, things we do bring value to the lives around us, and to the Kingdom of God.
4. The Psalmist identifies himself like this: He is a follower of God whose companions are those who are the same in their commitment to God.

HARVEST
CHURCH

This Week's Sermon:

Who Am I? Who are My Companions? Is God With Me?
Psalm 119:57–64 (Heth)

1. The individual believer can make this appeal to God: I will go your way, I will do your will; please bless me with favor in all I do.
2. We must be able to say, I am not a perfect follower of God, but I am a good and loyal follower of Jesus, seeking always to bring Him pleasure and glory, quickly repenting when I fail, but always moving forward in good works.
3. God's blessing does not mean a smooth path all the time; rather, over the long haul, things we do bring value to the lives around us, and to the Kingdom of God.
4. The Psalmist identifies himself like this: He is a follower of God whose companions are those who are the same in their commitment to God.

