

THE LEAK OF UNHEALED WOUNDS

Scripture

“He heals the brokenhearted and binds up their wounds.”

— Psalm 147:3 (NLT)

Devotional Notes (Viewer-Facing)

Overview

Unhealed wounds don’t always scream—they seep.

They quietly affect how we trust, love, react, and see ourselves. Time may dull the ache, but only Jesus heals the heart.

Many wounds stay hidden behind strength, spirituality, or busyness. We function, serve, and smile—yet pain still leaks. God never rushes healing. He tends to it. He binds wounds gently, intentionally, and completely.

Healing requires honesty. God heals what we reveal. When wounds are brought into His presence, lies lose their grip and peace begins to flow. Your wound does not define you—your healing will.

Reflection

1. What wound might still be influencing your life today?
  2. What lie has that wound spoken into your identity?
  3. What would it look like to bring that pain fully to Jesus?

Prayer

Jesus, You are the Healer of my heart.
I bring You the wounds I’ve hidden or minimized.
Speak truth where lies have taken root.
Bind my broken places and restore my joy.
I trust You with my healing.
Amen.
