

Big Question

Question - Does God keep His promises?

Answer - Yes, God always keeps His promises because He is faithful.

Bible Time

Abraham lived many years. Before he died, he wanted to find a wife for his son Isaac. He asked his best servant to find Isaac a wife—not from the Canaanites who lived near them, but from his own people. This was a hard job because the woman would need to agree to move away from her family and come to the land God had promised to Abraham. Abraham said, “The Lord will send an angel before you.” God would help the servant with this task.

The servant took 10 camels with him on the journey to Abraham's homeland. When the servant arrived, he stopped with the camels at a well outside of a town. In the evenings, women would come and draw water from this well.
