CONVERSATION GUIDE

In a world that insists that truth is relative and that no one should trample on another's version of truth, happiness, contentment, and joy are as elusive as ever. The Bible is clear - God is the source of all truth and living outside of that truth is to be opposed to the Creator's clear design for His creation. In this series, we will study the lies that even Christians fall for, and the truth that will set them free.

(Inspiration for this series comes from "Lies Women Believe" by Nancy Leigh DeMoss)

A CULTURE OF DECEPTION

One only has to flip on the television or even watch a movie to discover strategic product placement, subtle suggestive images, or overt assumptive language that shapes our culture, and thus the minds of the viewer. Today we discover the importance of being alert to the deception surrounding us.

Colossians 2:8 ESV

See to it that no one takes you captive by philosophy and empty deceit, according to human tradition, according to the elemental spirits[a] of the world, and not according to Christ.

- In a 2015 interview, John Piper stated, "oceans of culture have very powerful tides and these cultural tides almost always pull us away from deep allegiance to Jesus." Let's discuss this. What is the warning here?
- 1 John 2:15 states, "Do not love the world or the things in the world. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him." What does this mean? What are some examples of loving the world? How do those things that we love about the world deceive us? What does it mean that the Father is not in us? If I am a Christian and I fall in love with the world and its trappings, does this verse mean that I can lose my salvation?

- Generally, what lies can you think of that even Christians fall for? Why do Christians fall for these lies?
