

Sermon Title: Guardians of tomorrow: Treasure

Date: 7 April 2024

Speaker: Louis du Piesanie

Content:

The sermon revolves around the concept of purpose-driven giving, emphasizing the utilization of money to fulfill God's purposes for individuals. It explores key verses and principles to guide believers in their financial stewardship.

Key Verses:

1. 1 Timothy 6:18-19 (LB) - Encouraging the use of money for good works, sharing, and storing up treasure in heaven.
2. Matthew 6:19-21 - Advising to store treasures in heaven rather than on earth.

Key Points with Explanation:

1. Money as a Tool, not a Love: We need to use money and love people, not the other way around. Money is portrayed as a tool given by God to fulfill His purposes, emphasizing the importance of using it wisely and not becoming attached to it.
2. Investing in God's Purposes: Believers are encouraged to invest in five "financial investment funds" aligning with God's purposes for their lives, such as Treasury Fund, Mutual Fund, Growth Fund, Equity Service Fund, and Global Fund.
3. Treasuring Spiritual Investment: The Treasury Fund emphasizes worshipful giving, with the understanding that where one's treasure lies, their heart follows. Tithing and offering are highlighted as expressions of love and devotion to God.
4. Encouraging Fellowship: The Mutual Fund advocates for using finances to nurture fellowship and demonstrate love within the community of believers. Acts of kindness, hospitality, and support are cited as ways to invest in this fund.
5. Personal Growth and Development: The Growth Fund emphasizes personal improvement and spiritual growth through investments in education, self-development, and character enhancement.
6. Service to Others: The Equity Service Fund focuses on serving others, particularly those in need, by generously giving of one's resources and actively engaging in acts of compassion and service in the community.
7. Global Mission: The Global Fund urges believers to invest in spreading the gospel worldwide, emphasizing the eternal impact of sharing the message of salvation and supporting missions.

Discussion Points or Questions:

1. How can we practically implement purpose-driven giving in our daily lives?
2. Share instances where you've experienced the joy of giving and its impact on your spiritual growth.
3. What challenges do individuals face in prioritizing giving in alignment with God's purposes, and how can these be overcome?
4. How can we discern between genuine needs and ineffective or harmful giving?
5. Discuss personal experiences of investing in the Growth Fund and its impact on character development and spiritual maturity.

Conclusion:

Purpose-driven giving entails utilizing financial resources to fulfill God's purposes, including worship, fellowship, personal growth, service, and global mission. By aligning financial stewardship with God's agenda, believers can experience spiritual growth, impact lives, and store up treasure in heaven.

Practical Exercise:

Reflect on your financial habits and commitments. Identify areas where adjustments can be made to align with purpose-driven giving. Consider setting specific goals for allocating finances to worship, fellowship, personal growth, service, and global mission.

Application:

Share examples within the group of how purpose-driven giving has manifested in your lives or how you intend to incorporate these principles into your financial practices. Encourage accountability and support in implementing purpose-driven giving.

Prayer and Encouragement:

Close the discussion with a prayer, seeking God's guidance and empowerment in practicing purpose-driven giving. Encourage one another to remain faithful stewards of God's resources and to continually seek His wisdom in financial matters.
