

Marble Jar (Week 3)

Clint Craig – 9 February 2020

Discussion and Questions:

1. Is anyone willing to share about a time when they were younger where they made the claim “I only did something because others were doing it?”
2. Clint mentioned that the interaction between Jesus and Pilate was recorded in three of the gospel accounts but was also reported by Jewish historian Josephus and the Roman historian Tacitus. How does knowing that these events were captured by secular historical sources impact your faith?
3. Pilate got word from his wife about what to do and he ignored it. How do you think things played out at their place later that evening?
4. Pilate tried to wash his hands of responsibility. Why do we often try and do the same thing when we listen to the crowd?
5. When we live to please the crowd, a danger is:
  - People may like you, but they won’t know you.
  - People may admire you, but they won’t love you.Do you agree that many of us chase after being liked and admired, when we really need to be known and loved?
6. John Maxwell has defined success as being that “Those closest to you, love you the most.” Do you think this is a good definition of success? Why/Why not?
