Discussion and Questions:

Read Numbers 32:1-7 about two tribes not wanting to cross the Jordan but preferring to remain stuck where they were.

1. People get stuck in life for all sorts of reasons; pain and hurt, loss, bitterness or habitual sins to name a few. Name some others. Can you suggest passages of scripture that encourage us to cry out to God as a first response? (Jer 33.3, Jonah 2:2 and Deut 33:26-27a, may be useful)
2. Ivan said praying gives God access to be able to perform a miracle in the situation. Has anyone here ever seen this happen in their own or their family's life? Share God's goodness towards you with the group.
3. The first of three ways to help us "cross the Jordan" (like the Israelites in Numbers 32) is to travel light. Don't carry excess baggage like unforgiveness, resentment, grudges etc. What do you think letting go of such things would look like?
4. The second is move when God tells you to, even when you don't feel like it. In other words, don't wait. Your emotions can catch you up after you have been obedient. Are our emotions always bad or unhelpful or can God use them to be part of our progress?
5. Lastly was have a plan. What difference would believing that God has a plan for you make to your confidence in the future?
