

Men's Marriage Questions

1. Adam was created to be the keeper of the garden. What, in your own words, does that look like today?
2. In what ways does the culture influence us to betray our role as protectors and keepers of the garden.
3. The people in our home should feel more secure because we are there. Did you have that security from your father growing up, or was he absent or threatening? How might you do things differently?
4. Commitment means closing certain doors to open a better one. What have you given up in order to fulfill the most important roles in your life? What might you still need to give up?
5. Spend a few minutes talking about the man/husband you want to be. Describe your vision for who you want to become, how you will treat people, and how you can be the keeper of the garden around you.
