

I Love JC

Why I Love JC

It's not uncommon to hear "I love football" or "I love ice cream" or "I love hunting", but when someone says "I love my church" people think it's weird. When the local church is working right, there's nothing like it in the world.

Discussion Questions:

- What's something you really love? What makes you love that thing? What would it take for you to stop loving that thing?
- What is the first word that comes to your mind when you hear "Church"? What reasons do you have to love the Church? What things make it difficult to love the Church?
- Is it strange to talk about how much you love your church?
- Have you seen Jesus heal hurts in your life or someone else's life?
- How have you seen Jesus give hope and turn something or someone around?

Next Steps

If half the people in this small group decided to extend an act of love within our church this week, how would it effect the congregation? How would it effect the congregation if they committed to an act of love every week for a month? What steps can you take to make our church renowned for its love?

Who do you know needs to hear that Jesus loves messy people? Tell that person that Jesus made the Church for messy people and invite him or her to a Jenks Church service.

Media challenge

We are asking everyone that has social media (facebook, twitter, Instagram, etc.) the take time every day this month and post one thing each day that you love about your church. Then end your post with #ilovejc

Let's create some excitement and celebration about what Jesus is doing at Jenks Church.
